

U.S. TO OFFER 'LAST CHANCE'

Watkins Likely To Propose $11-12 Million Bond Figure

The Lincoln Board of Education is expected to determine the amount of the Oct. 2 bond issue Tuesday morning.

Dr. Steven N. Watkins, school superintendent, is expected to propose a package of between $11 and $12 million.

It will probably break down something like this:

New elementary classroom additions, $2.5 million.

New elementary schools, $2 million.

Secondary school construction, $4.4 million.

Repairs and improvements, $2.2 million.

Property purchases, $0.4 million.

The board can make adjustments in an area like repairs. It might, for instance, decide to spend less in this area on some of Lincoln's older schools, like Capitol, and add more to the new construction figure.

On Periphery

Most of the new construction Dr. Watkins is expected to propose will be on the city's periphery.

The south-central and northeast parts of town, where the most concentrated private home building is taking place, will benefit most directly from new schools if the issue is approved.

A senior high school site already has been purchased near Veterans Hospital on the eastern edge of the city.

A junior high school might be proposed in either the southeast section or the West Lincoln-Belmont area.

New elementary schools probably will be spotted near these locations: 33rd and Calvert; 39th and Adams; Wedgewood Manor; 50th and Vine; and 44th and Calvert.

But the board desires to satisfy the needs of children near the heart of the city whose schools, while not crowded, are growing older and less physically satisfactory.

Therefore the repair and improvement cost, postponed in the past to retain money for new construction, probably will get considerable attention.

Conservative Approach

In approaching the problem of how far ahead of enrollment to build, board members have expressed the desire to show conservatism. They acknowledge, on the other hand, that too much timidity would only postpone the problem of a growing student population at best, and might short change future generations of Lincoln school children at worst.

By 1967, Lincoln school population will grow nearly 10,000—that is, if the city's overall population does not change radically.

The school age population is already taxing existing facilities, school officials say, and there is no money left from a 1955 issue of $10 million to build even $1.2 million of schools they say are desperately needed immediately.

Protestant Merger Hopes Are On Confident Side

Many Old Differences Are Faced

... AS LEADERS MEET

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Washington (AP)—Talks were launched amid mingled hopes and questions Monday seeking a possible sweeping union of American Protestantism.

Churchmen, at the outset, seemed generally confident about eventual results.

But many old differences remain, and the central question is whether the new effort will really get started and move along in decisive fashion.

Achieving a unified church will be difficult, said Methodist Bishop Glenn R. Phillips of Denver, but he added: "Toward this shining goal, we have set our course."

Involved in the initial two-day conference are 4 major denominations with a total of nearly 20 million members.

They include besides the Methodists, the United Presbyterian Church, the Protestant Episcopal Church, and the United Church of Christ. Other communions may be invited to join future talks, if the prospects here prove favorable.

The Rev. Dr. Charles D. Kean of Washington, D.C., secretary of the Episcopal Commission on Unity, said conditions seem ripe for accomplishing "more than ever before."

But he added: "It will take a long, long time for anything to jell."

About 40 church representatives, including laymen, theological experts and administrative clerics, are taking part in the talks.

Although this first conference plans only to set up machinery and schedules for continuing activity, the extent and nature of these plans themselves may give a hint as to just how strongly the effort is to be pushed.

"We believe the church is ready to take the necessary steps..." said the Rev. Dr. Ben M. Herbst of New York, president of the United Church of Christ, itself a recent merger of Congregational Christians and the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

The Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Balke of Philadelphia, chief executive of the United Presbyterians, said a main obstacle is one of emphasis on how the grace of God is channeled to men — whether through the pulpit or at the communion rail.

VA HOSPITAL VOLUNTEERS HONORED

VA Hospital Volunteers Honored

Volunteer service workers at the Veterans Administration Hospital were honored for their hours of service to the patients at special ceremonies Monday night.

Dr. J. Melvin Boykin, hospital director, spoke at the program and certificates were presented to the volunteer workers with the highest number of hours by their division and service chiefs.

Three Lincolns, Nate Grossman, Margaret Kennedy and Helen Russell were honored for reaching the 10,000-hour service mark.

Esther Jespersen received a 5,000-hour award; Ethel Strabel a 2,500-hour certificate, and Jo Brockman and Charlotte Kelly, 1,000-hour awards.

Other certificates presented included 13 for 500-hour service, 15 for 300-hour service and 29 for 100-hour service.

The top service volunteers also received gold pins from the Spanish-American War Veterans.

Some British Taxes Cut, But No Major Yielding

London (AP)—The British government — by reducing some sales taxes — cut the cost of household goods and cars, eliminated an unpopular property tax and hit at stock market speculators Monday in a budget designed to mollify its wavering middle class supporters.

Lloyd But Chancellor of the Exchequer Selwyn Lloyd made no major concessions to Britain's hard-pressed taxpayers for the 1962-63 fiscal year.

And he shocked millions of school children with a "sweet tooth" tax on candy, ice cream and soft drinks.

"Pocket Money Attack"

"This is an attack on pocket money," bellowed one legislator as Lloyd — sipping brandy and water — reeled off facts and figures in a 90-minute statement on the national economy.

He forecast more prosperity and expanded trade in the year ahead, but warned he would keep a tight rein on spending to insure economic success. Lloyd reduced the sales tax on a wide variety of items, from cars to carpets, from washing machines to refrigerators.

AEC Sets 2nd Area For Tests

Washington (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department designated Monday a second testing area in the Pacific in preparation for possible nuclear weapons tests.

The second area is circular in shape with a radius of 470 nautical miles at the surface and widening to 700 nautical miles at 30,000 feet and above.

The circle will have its center at the Johnston Island coordinate, 16 degrees 45 minutes north and 169 degrees 31 minutes west.

A nautical mile is 1.15 statute miles.

The Defense Department declined any explanation of why the new test area is needed and the AEC would only say, "we need it for testing."

The agency advised Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, that the warning to navigators and aviators will become effective April 30.

On April 4, the two agencies established a rectangular area 600 miles wide and 800 miles long surrounding Christmas Island, effective April 15.

This area was extended Monday, effective April 30, by broadening the eastern boundary to add another zone 120 miles wide and 240 miles long.

The eastern boundary of the previous test zone was extended from longitude 149 degrees 20 minutes west to 147 degrees 20 minutes west between latitudes from 6 degrees 50 minutes north to 2 degrees 50 minutes north.

Fong was informed that the designation of the test areas is in accord with the policy of making public warning several weekends in advance. Further announcements will precede any actual tests, the agencies said.

More State Ed Support Needed, YGOP Reports

Major changes in Nebraska educational programs, aimed at combatting federal control, have been recommended by the education committee of the Nebraska Federation of Young Republicans.

A report by the committee headed by Dr. Aubrey

Forrest of Lincoln, opposes "the concept of federal aid to education," but would increase state support in some areas.

The report warned that "if Nebraska is to retain control of its total educational program," it must put its present educational tax dollar to a more effective use and give consideration to the broadening of the tax base.

The report emphasized that "a broader local tax base would be preferred to federal aid to education if and when our present tax structure can no longer support the financial needs of Nebraska education."

Specific recommendations in the report:

—Compulsory redistricting for kindergarten through 12th grade (K-12) systems no later than 1968.

—Legislative changes placing with the commissioner of education responsibility for establishing teacher certification standards and issuing teaching certificates.

—State aid to Nebraska junior colleges in the amount of $100 per full time equivalent student.

—Development of the 4 state colleges as liberal arts institutions with departments for teacher training.

Under the latter proposal, the committee recommended that "Teachers" be dropped from the title of each of the schools, and that graduate programs be eliminated, except those under the supervision of the University of Nebraska.

The committee also recommended limiting junior college programs to technical and pre-professional courses leading to transfer to a professional college.

Committee members in addition to Dr. Forrest are James Miller of Fremont, Mrs. Carolyn Herre of Beatrice and Jerry Troester of York.

Food prices generally will stay the same, although sugar will be a halfpenny (about half a cent) cheaper and coffee and cocoa will come down slightly too.

Lloyd resisted campaigns for a cut in the high duties on gasoline and liquor. And he confounded some of the pundits by declining to step up the tax on tobacco and cigarettes, which now cost 4 shillings 6 pence (63 cents) for a pack of 20.

The chancellor had been widely expected to increase the tobacco tax in the light of a recent medical report declaring once again that smoking causes lung cancer.

Cliff Robertson To Portray JFK In 'PT 109' Movie

Hollywood (UPI)—Actor Cliff Robertson will portray President John F. Kennedy in "PT 109," the movie version of his exploits as a naval officer during World War II in the South Pacific, it was announced Monday.

Robertson was chosen for the role of the young Kennedy by Jack L. Warner and producer Bryan Foy with the approval of the White House.

The picture is scheduled to begin shooting later this spring on location in Florida, San Diego and on the Warner Bros. Studio stages.

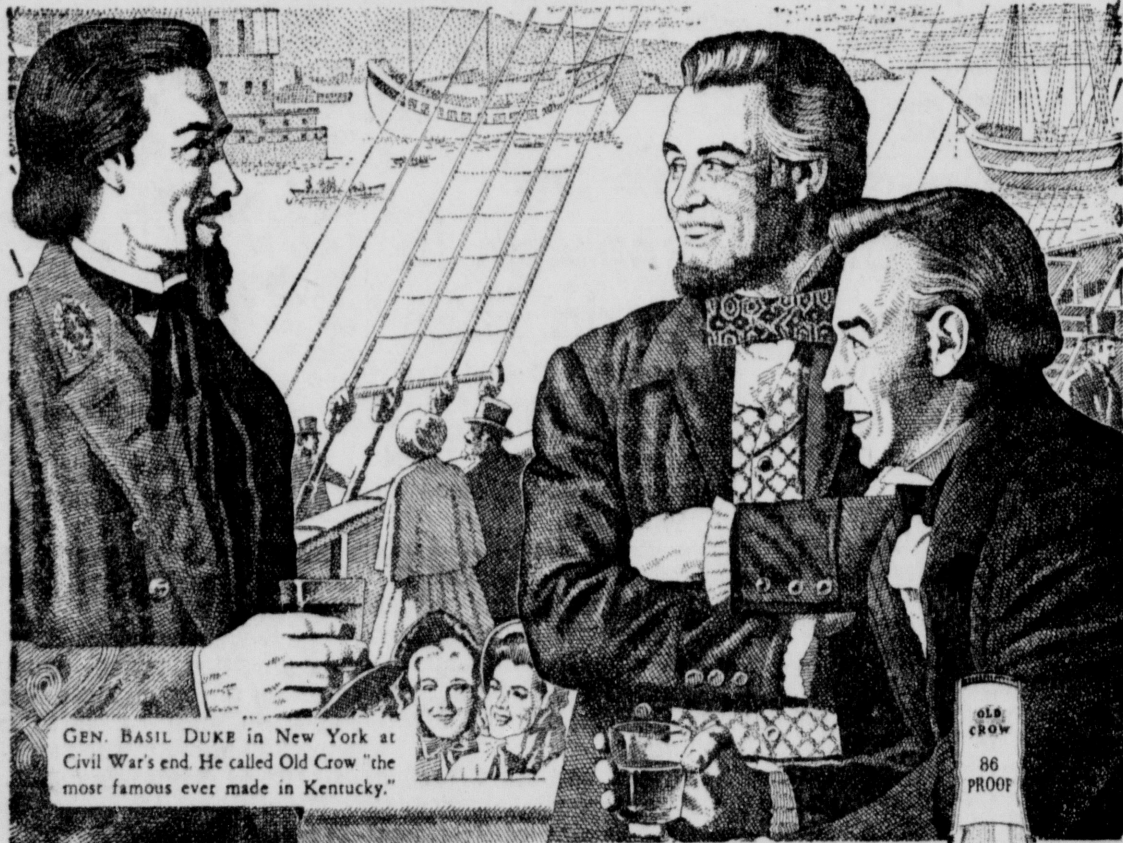

Robertson, 36, is a native of La Jolla, Calif., who made his mark in television and movies, having starred in many live video dramas, among them "Playhouse 90" and such movies as "The Girl Most Likely" and currently in "My 6 Loves."

Fulton Named To City Council

... TO FILL UNEXPIRED TERM

C. Robert Fulton, retired engineer and former Airport Authority member, was appointed Lincoln councilman Monday to fill the unexpired term of Kenneth Lewis.

Selection of Fulton by the council came as a mild surprise because his name was not among the 5 candidates publicly mentioned for the post.

Fulton, 74, is expected to be sworn in at next Monday's meeting.

Lewis resigned a week ago after being sworn in as Lincoln's acting postmaster.

The council term runs to May, 1963.

Council action appointing Fulton was unanimous. Mayor Pat Boyles, absent from the council meeting on business, concurred in the appointment, Acting Mayor Del Tyrrell reported.

Several council members said Fulton's "training and long years of experience in municipal and utility engineering would be a valuable asset to the council's membership."

Fulton is probably the first councilman with engineering experience since R. E. Campbell, who served 1937 to 1941.

Retired In '59

Fulton retired as senior partner of a Lincoln consulting engineer firm, Fulton and Cramer, in 1959 and was appointed to the Airport Authority by the council.

He was unsuccessful in a 1961 bid for election to a short term on the authority. Fulton consistently voted for the present location of the municipal airport while a member.

A life-long Lincoln resident, Fulton is a 1909 graduate of the University of Nebraska college of engineering and member of Sigma Tau, engineering scholastic fraternity.

During his 50-year career as a consulting engineer, Fulton served some 300 municipalities in Nebraska and 6 neighboring states.

Additionally, he was chief electrical engineer for the Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District's Sutherland Project and supervised utilities construction at several midwestern military installations.

Fulton is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, American Society of Electrical Engineers, and Nebraska Engineering Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Fulton reside at 2327 So. 19th. They have 4 grown children.

Foundry Gets Special Okay For Business

A special permit to Deeter Foundry Inc. to construct and operate a gray iron and aluminum foundry on a 10-acre heavy industry site near 70th and Fletcher was okayed Monday by the City Council.

There was no public opposition to the permit, which was recommended by the planning commission. The company proposes to relocate its operations, presently at 630 K.

Also approved was a special permit to Capital Beach Inc. for the construction and operation of a recreation area, including Salt Lake and adjoining land.

City Approves Agreement On Cornhusker Hwy.

An agreement in connection with the State Highway Department's proposed project for widening Cornhusker Highway from 10th to 17th and constructing a viaduct at North 14th was approved Monday by the City Council.

Public Works Director D. L. Erickson said the state plans to let construction contracts on the Cornhusker Highway project this spring.

The highway will be widened to 4 lanes with some relocation and a North 14th viaduct is planned with modified access lanes.

The city agreement guarantees parking controls on the new highway section, highway business setbacks, and traffic sign controls.

Also, the city will be reimbursed for $38,472 of the $47,263 cost for relocation of city utilities. The non-reimbursable portion is estimated "betterment costs," Erickson said.

Congress Has Brief Session—Baseball Time

Washington (AP)—The Senate met for only 5 minutes Monday—the opening day of the American League baseball season.

Debate on a $13-million authorization for military hardware was postponed until Tuesday.

The House was in session only 22 minutes.

Both chambers met at noon and adjournment in both cases was well ahead of the 2 p.m. starting time for the opening baseball game between the Washington Senators and the Detroit Tigers.

107-Acre Area Might Be Annexed

The City Council Monday introduced an ordinance annexing 107 acres on the south edge of Lincoln, including several portions of county roads.

The proposed road annexations include 48th from Pioneer to Hwy. 2, 40th from Pioneer to LaSalle, 33rd from Pioneer to Calvert and Pioneer from 37th to 33rd.

The county had urged city annexation of these county road segments within Lincoln's urban area.

The two tracts of land involved are Fiene Heights 1st Addition and South Gate Heights, both proposed for residential development.

The annexation comes up for final reading on April 23.

Elliott School Crossing Will Get Stop Sign

Placement of "Stop for Pedestrians" traffic sign at 27th and N to protect an Elliott Elementary School student crossing was approved Monday by the City Council.

Elliott PTA and school officials had urged a flashing school-stop sign, but agreed to the compromise proposal adopted by the council.

Police traffic officials said a school stop sign would unduly tie up arterial traffic on 27th in view of the limited number of children crossing at that point.

They pointed out that 27th and O, only one block further north, is fully signalized.

It was estimated 23 children cross 27th at N.

ISRAEL IS CENSURED BY COUNCIL

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—By a vote of 10 to 0, the U.N. Security Council Monday censured Israel for a night attack last month on a Syrian outpost overlooking the Sea of Galilee.

Only France abstained as the 11-nation council approved a resolution submitted by the United States and Britain reaffirming a 6-year-old directive condemning Israel for resorting to military retaliation against her Arab neighbors.

Armand Berard, the French delegate, said the U.S.-British resolution failed to establish that both sides shared responsibilities for a series of border clashes that flared on March 8.

The resolution declared that the Israeli attack the night of March 16-17 "constituted a flagrant violation" of a council resolution of Jan. 19, 1956, condemning Israeli military reprisals.

Council Gets Industry Tract Request Early

A controversial ordinance for heavy industrial zoning of an 8.8-acre tract near the Municipal Airport access road and Hwy. 34 and 2 was introduced Monday before the City Council.

Abel Construction Company has proposed the relocation of its material unloading and storage yard to the tract from a site in the path of proposed municipal airport expansion at the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Several council members expressed surprise that an ordinance had been prepared for introduction, noting that under normal procedure its introduction would not have been anticipated until next Monday.

City Atty. Ralph Nelson said he had been requested by an Abel attorney to prepare the ordinance in anticipation that Councilman Ed Becker would introduce it Monday.

The City-County Planning Commission's report for denial on the proposed zoning was received Monday by the council.

The Airport Authority has urged the zoning move. Chairman Leo Beck Jr. has said the city will save $50,000 or more in Abel relocation costs if the zoning is granted.

The zoning ordinance will come up for public hearing and final reading on April 23.

New Code

Also introduced Monday was a new zoning code ordinance for the establishment of "H-S Highway Service Districts," recommended by the planning commission.

The ordinance establishing regulations for "highway service districts" would provide for service station, restaurant, public garage, motel and hotel uses with proposed building setbacks and area requirements.

Four general locations for highway service districts along the Interstate Highway near Lincoln have been proposed in the comprehensive plan.

The local motel association has indicated its opposition to the inclusion of motels and hotels in the highway service districts.

Other ordinances introduced on 1st reading:

—Code amendment increasing fees to $30 for zoning applications, $20 for special use permits, and $20 for zoning appeals.

—Amendment to Water Advisory Board ordinance to provide a member shall hold "no city office" instead of present wording of "no public office."

—Final plat of Sunset Acres, a 22-lot replat near 44th and Colfax.

The council approved these ordinances on 3rd reading:

—Paving District 1797 for Franklin from 40th to 396 feet west of 40th.

—Paving District 1798 for 43rd from Adams to Greenwood.

—Amendment to Lincoln traffic code to permit the posting of higher speed limits on highways within the city limits than now set for arterial streets.

—Amendment to ordinance prohibiting race tracks within the city limits to permit operation of an existing track until Nov. 1.

All council members were present for the regular meeting except Mayor Pat Boyles, who is representing the city on a West Coast trip.

Drug Prices Not Too High —Dr. Smith

The economic benefits resulting from proper medication were praised and discount houses and "cut-throat" competition were criticized Monday at the Nebraska Pharmaceutical Assn. convention.

Dr. Austin Smith of Washington, D.C., president of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Assn., said druggists should point out to their customers that the price of prescriptions are not high when compared with the cost of losing time from work due to illness.

Dr. Smith maintained that drug patients do not increase costs, that wholesale drug prices have gone down, and that drug developments have been greater in countries with the patent plan than in those without it.

The criticism of "cut-throat" competition came from Bert Corgan, president of the National Association of Retail Druggists. He said about 13% of small business failures thus far in 1962 have involved individually-owned drug stores.

He criticized Congress for being "too busy to bother with the plight of the individual business establishment today."

The 3-day convention ended Monday.

GOP Lives It Up

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Republican party faithful were treated to heaping dishes of partisanship as they gathered to break bread in Lincoln with office seekers and office holders of their party at the annual GOP Founders Day. Highlight of the affair was the banquet address of National Chairman William E. Miller of New York. The congressman pretty well covered the waterfront in blasting the Kennedy administration in Washington.

Such affairs as these, of course, are expected to be highly partisan and they run pretty true to form regardless of which party it is that has gathered. Miller is especially good at these gatherings as he is an able speaker and has a good sense of humor. But he is not above looking at things the way he wants to see them or the way he wants the public to see them. He attacked the Democrats for what amounted in his words to lack of integrity in campaigning, particularly in the matter of this nation's missile strength and overall armaments. The Republican party, he noted, would not talk about a missile gap when none actually existed.

There is little doubt that the U.S. missile program might well have gotten under way during the Truman administration. But the issue was of much less prominence during Truman's years as it was when Eisenhower entered office and no more was done in the first two years of his term than was accomplished during the years of his predecessor.

Nor can it be denied that it was during Eisenhower's administration that the Russians publicly demonstrated their missile capabilities by the launching of their Sputnik—a feat which was laughed at by members of the Eisenhower team until the true seriousness of the situation actually dawned on them. Russia was first, during Kennedy's first year in office, to orbit a man around the earth in space and the real fact is that there is little certainty which nation has the superior missile power, although it is assumed that we have sufficient for our needs at the moment.

Miller further attacked the present administration for its position on Cuba, Berlin, Laos and South Vietnam. It is likely that some criticism is due on Laos but it must also be admitted that the situation there was practically hopeless when Kennedy assumed office. For all practical purposes, Laos is lost to the West but the loss is in the nature of a strategic retreat and regrouping to give added strength elsewhere. With Laos considered militarily almost impossible to defend, the administration has gambled in Asia on protection from the communists of South Vietnam. Miller, however, was critical of this, too, because he doesn't believe the administration has taken the American people into its confidence.

With Miller, when we stand to fight communist aggression, we are wrong and where we fail to fight, we are wrong. The fact is that nothing associated with our action in Vietnam has been kept from the American people and the activity, even fighting, of American troops there has been fully admitted by the administration. But we have not gone to war in Vietnam and we hope that by our advance display of firmness, we shall not have to go to war. The situation is not nearly so sinister as Mr. Miller might have us believe. Then, there is Cuba. Here again, criticism of the administration is justified as it was obvious that the invasion was not properly calculated and co-ordinated.

President Kennedy should have had a better understanding of that situation before he went ahead with it but the plan was the product of President Eisenhower—a fact Miller neglected to mention. A fair judgment of that fiasco would seem to lay the blame about equally on both parties.

In Berlin, it was Miller's opinion that the wall between that free city and East Germany should have been torn down, brick by brick, as it was constructed. This, of course, is hindsight and what the outcome of such an action might have been is anybody's guess. But the wall is as much an indictment of the communist failures in the East as it is anything else.

Miller, in fact, seems to have conceded practically all of Germany to the Reds on the basis of present foreign policy. This is quite an alarming stretch of the imagination but hardly gibes with the constant expressions and shows of strength that the administration has made in defense of West Germany. Miller went on to attack the U.S. stand in the United Nations in favor of Angola and voting losses while failing to mention the growing neutral membership in that world organization. He attempted to put the President on the spot relative to the recently published "Liberal Papers" when the President has nothing to do with them.

In all, Miller's appearance was most entertaining and his speech as expected but the meat of his remarks not always founded in fact. And except for the philosophical differences between the two parties which he outlined, his remarks were dominantly against the Democrats with little positive to say for the Republicans.

Stretching Of Facts

Question Of Consistency

It seems to have been settled that the U.S. astronauts will not take the Texas homes that were offered them. The American image of a public hero was not clouded and the dauntless men who are pioneering space have walked away from a gift that aggregated at least $170,000.

It is interesting to note that there is no evidence to warrant a conclusion that the gift was offered for the benefit of the givers more than the recipients, that is, as a gimmick to stimulate a real estate development. The evidence rather is that the Texans were living up to the Texas reputation of doing things up big.

As it has turned out in this instance neither the givers or the intended recipients should be subject to examination. But it is a good time for the public to reflect upon its own consistency in terms of rewarding great popular heroes. Many have questioned whether the astronauts should have been involved in an enriching arrangement provided by a major national magazine, a matter of $500,000 for certain publication rights. But these are the same people who considered it quite appropriate for former President Eisenhower to receive numerous gifts. They found it a satisfying way of expressing their gratitude for his great public service both as a general and as a president. The public at times has extended its heartfelt thanks to conspicuous public servants while at other times it has gone further with gifts that tended to assure their idol against the possible experience of adversity. It all adds up to a shaded question of propriety and consistency. But if it is right in the case of one, it should be right in the case of another.

Blood Money Returns

Even in this unusually callous time when civilized nations have done things they could not square with conscience, the blood money Fidel Castro is asking for his 1,179 prisoners sets a new low in barbarity.

He wants $62 million in ransom. He covets money for his warring revolution. So he has men for sale.

It is true the men were captured in an attempt to liberate Cuba. If one concedes that Castro's regime is a legitimate government, or even that it is a de facto government, then it has a right to try and punish its captives. There is a broad question of the legitimacy of Castro's regime and there certainly are no moral or legal grounds for the subversion of the Cuban revolution by alien communists. But even waiving all that, it is one thing to invoke justice and another thing to use captives for extortion.

France Shows Exhaustion

The people of France gave an impressive 90 per cent of their votes to the Algerian settlement plans of President Charles de Gaulle and showed thereby their weariness with a war of nerves that has lasted seven long years. The people of France do not like the prospect of losing Algeria and this is what they can expect as a result of their vote.

That vote permits De Gaulle to submit to Algerians a choice as to their future. They will be asked to choose between continued colonial status, independence but with close ties to France or complete independence. There is no question that Algeria, with only a comparative handful of French and Europeans there, will take one of the independence alternatives. This is the thing that Moslem leaders there have been fighting for all these years.

It has been the kind of fight for which few people have any stomach—one of those which couldn't be completely won by either side and one which always courted terror. Thousands have died in the bloody struggle over Algeria, many of them in no way associated with the fight but unable to escape its dreadful consequences. And it has been a battle which has sapped the energy and finances of the French nation when such sacrifice could really not be afforded.

The vote of the French people is a significant bow to the forces of independence that most people now realize cannot be resisted in all parts of the world. Strangely, this nation has always stood firmly in favor of independence of nations but the rise of new nations has caused much soul-searching and debate in the U.S. It has not been easy for us at all times to live by the principle we proclaim in this area but we have come to realize it is essential that we do so.

Johnson Fits As Fine Vice President

WASHINGTON — Today Lyndon Johnson celebrates his 25th year of government service. It was on April 10, 1937, that a tall, gangling country boy from Texas got off the train at the union station to become a member of Congress. It was a fateful day both for Washington and for Lyndon.

He was such a persuasive and powerful leader, in fact, that the political wiseacres predicted he would never be at peace sitting behind John F. Kennedy. Johnson had worn the pants in the Democratic family too long, they said, to work under one of his freshmen.

They warned that he would try to run the Kennedy administration from the back seat, that there would be a struggle between head and tail to rule the dog.

But the dire predictions haven't come true. Far from competing for power, Johnson has channeled his restless energy and enormous influence in the Kennedy cause.

There was a period, after their bruising battle for the Democratic presidential nomination, that the two men regarded one another with cold suspicion. Brother Bobby was especially chilly. But the chill thawed under the Florida sun during their pre-inaugural, Palm Beach conferences.

The hostility changed to mutual respect, then frank admiration.

Today a genuine warmth exists between the two men. They frequently confer, lunch, and swim together. Johnson is the only person, other than Attorney General Robert Kennedy, who is allowed to walk in on the President without an appointment.

The tireless and talkative Johnson has become the most active vice president in history. He works out of half a dozen offices between the White House and Capitol Hill. In fact, he has a mania for many offices. But his favorite is an imperial, aquamarine suite off the Senate floor from which plush sanctum he oversees the space program, Peace Corps, and fair employment drive. He has made impressive accomplishments in all three.

He has quietly persuaded 52 of the nation's largest corporations to pledge an end to job discrimination. For a politician from segregated Texas, this is revolutionary. As a diplomatic trouble-shooter, he has also taken five trips abroad for the President. His folksy, corn-pone approach, greeting people in far-off lands as if he were running for re-election in Texas, has won friends.

But probably Johnson's most effective work for the Kennedy administration has been on Capitol Hill where his persuasive arm, wrapped around a recalcitrant senator, has changed many a vote.

GOP Hopes To Win In South Carolina

WASHINGTON — A discussion by Republicans of one Senate race this year invariably begins: "Don't laugh but—" The race in question is in South Carolina and the Democrat whom Republicans have a hope of replacing is the veteran Olin D. Johnston.

Senator Johnston was elected to the state legislature in 1923 and has never looked back. After two terms as governor, he came to the Senate in 1944 and is now seeking his fourth continuous term. He has opposition in the Democratic primary from Gov. Hollings; the general view is that the boondock voters will save him from that humiliation.

Even so, Republicans believe that their own candidate, William Workman, a former newspaper man, suits the South Carolina political climate better than any Democrat could, given the race record of the national administration. Their hopes soared after 3,000 cheered Workman at a recent Republican state convention.

The situation regarding Johnston's junior colleague casts little light on the situation as he is Strom Thurmond, the Dixiecrat candidate for President in 1948 and presently a dedicated member of the extreme right. It was Thurmond who insisted upon the Senate "muzzling the military" hearings and he is still standing on the burning deck with Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker.

All the candidates are segregationists; their differences on that issue are only a question of degree. Johnston's long record indicates that he is probably the most liberal otherwise; it is presumed to be a reflection of his own early hardships.

Workman can count on aid and financial comfort from the Republican Senate Campaign Committee, for its chairman is Senator Goldwater with whose views on most economic and social issues Workman is in accord. Goldwater also believes his party should grab the South and, if necessary, let the big cities and their minorities go.

The Goldwater views, openly expressed, occasionally cause the party some embarrassment, not all of it outside the South.

So far, Goldwater's southern following in the Senate consists of Tower of Texas, the only Republican who voted against the recent constitutional amendment to repeal the poll tax. Should Workman triumph this fall, and align himself with Tower, the question of what Republican policy is in the South would become more acute.

So far Republicans have tended to improvise to meet the situation they find, a legitimate position for a tiny minority. It will not suffice as their strength grows, particularly if their congressional record continues to be strongly conservative. Negro voters in and outside the South complain of the Democrats but clearly forgive them at the ballot box because the party is liberal nationally.

THEY WALKED WITH CHRIST

Judas Iscariot

Of all the twelve who were called to be disciples, the character of Judas remains the most mysterious.

The gospel writers tell us nothing of his life or background before he met Jesus, and very little of his association with the Master, except always to identify him as the betrayer.

But, as Dr. Hales observes, "the treachery of Judas Iscariot, his remorse and suicide are occurrences altogether so strange and extraordinary that the motives by which he was actuated require to be developed as far as may be done, where the evangelists are in a great measure silent concerning them."

It is obvious that Judas had some overwhelming weakness, some ruling passion that made him, when under its influence, powerless to resist evil.

But what was that weakness? Was it covetousness, as the gospel narratives imply—a lust for money that was so great that he stole even from the disciples themselves?

If that were true, why was Judas made steward and almoner for the group, receiving contributions and overseeing their redistribution? (John XII:6 and XIII:29).

An interesting apocryphal source states that Judas Iscariot's weakness was wine. While this account has no scriptural support, it is a more rational explanation of his behavior. For, even in our own day, alcoholics and

"He spake of Judas Iscariot the son of Simon: for he it was that should betray Him, being one of the twelve." — John VI:71 drug addicts often sacrifice everything, even those they love, on the altar of their inveterate habit.

The gospels tell us that, stricken with remorse, Judas tried to undo the betrayal of Jesus, and returned the 30 pieces of silver, which the priests refused, and which were eventually used to buy a potter's field.

In profound despair, Judas went out and hanged himself; but in the act, apparently the rope broke and he fell down a steep precipice at Aceldama where "he burst asunder in the midst." (Acts I:18).

As Papini observes in his "Life of Christ":

"Only two creatures in the world knew the secret of Judas: Christ and the traitor."

Friend, Neb. In the fifth paragraph of my letter entitled "Hotel History," a section was omitted giving the impression that Mr. Sam Lawrence had a fountain removed from the Lindell.

This took place in another Lincoln hotel which he was asked to manage and reorganize.

ART BROWN

Summer Dress

Lincoln, Neb. In my opinion, the most beautiful and enjoyable time of year is almost here when we can get out to plant our flowers, gardens and care for the lawns.

But one habit that has marred the beauty of it all is the habit of our people going around almost naked. There are many pretty nudes in our stores and at a price that the poorest family could afford. Or they could make themselves pretty dresses or shirts.

I know it sounds old-fashioned but I'll take an old-fashioned person any time in preference to the modern and up-to-date. I admire anyone I meet on the street or see at home who is well-clothed. We're not supposed to be heathens but we act worse. They don't know any different but we're supposed to.

I have three growing girls of my own who prefer pretty dresses and if they cost a little more, it's well worth it. Let's keep them modest and the juvenile courts empty.

MOTHER

Farm Situation

Dorchester, Neb. Agriculture, one of our largest industries, is facing the most critical test of its existence in our land. The years 1931 to 1934 showed net farm income averaging 35.3 per cent of gross farm income. In 1932, the worst year of the depression, net farm income averaged 31.4 per cent of the gross. Let us compare these years with our past three, 1959, 1960 and 1961, which showed that the farmer had a net income of 29 per cent in 1959, 30.1 per cent in 1960 and 30.5 per cent in 1961. This means that during the three poorest years of the '30's, net farm income was still 5.4 per cent greater than for the period of 1959 through 1961. This should concern the bankers as they play a central role in efforts to hold their communities together and reverse a trend which has resulted in diminishing farm profit dollars along with fewer farm people each year.

Federal Reserve Bank estimates are that United States commercial banks lost $500 million of farmer-owned deposits in 1959 and $300 million in 1960. In order for those farmers who are left on the farms today to absorb the land being vacated by those who have gone broke because of declining farm prices, it has become necessary that they spend $3.50 per factory hour for larger machines to handle this additional land and at the same time increase their volume of commodities to try to compete with other segments of business. Due to the fact that farm prices were held down during the years from 1947 to 1961, other industries deprived themselves of $35 million which the farmers would have spent had their percentage of the dollar been in line with the economy of other businesses.

Much of the unemployment today results from industries not producing at their peak due to lack of demand brought about by the agricultural economic situation. Many noted economists have stated that the farmers could live off their fat and in this way our economy would remain stable nationwide in other segments of business. Apparently this is untrue, as many farmers have fallen by the wayside.

We as farmers must solve our problems by working together, but this can be achieved much more easily if the people of our cities have a more thorough knowledge of our problems.

Prize Lost

Lincoln, Neb. This letter is in regard to the Havelock Spring Festival prize drawings conducted on Wednesday, April 4. The unfairness of my having to give up a prize pig which I won makes me lose some faith in the goodness of humanity. Regulations that this animal had to be removed in one hour allowed us very little time for any arrangements to be made. So because of this, someone else was given the animal, which was rightly mine.

I hope that those responsible can clear their consciences about the way this drawing was conducted.

MRS. ROBERT PONTE

Cost To Taxpayers

Lincoln, Neb. Here is something for the dumb taxpayers to chew over — $30,000 worth of new furniture for the officers' quarters which were all furnished new about two years ago and which must now all be done over. Add this to the cost of new washers, driers and dish-washers to keep the good wives happy, and it is our opinion that we need an investigation of some sort into the waste and deliberate destruction of government property at our great defense set-up, or else there won't be much to defend.

TOM STANTON

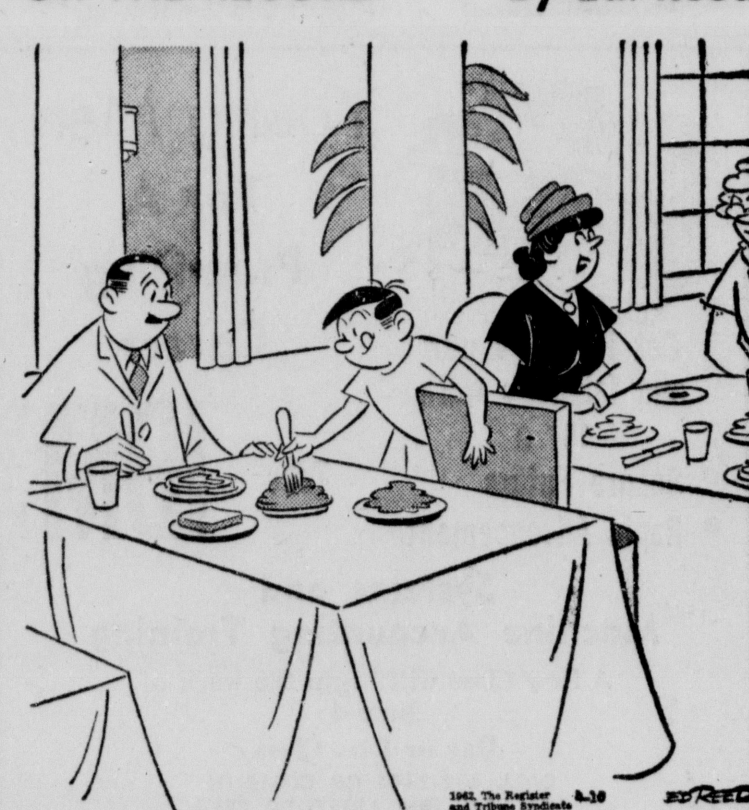

Conservative?

Greenwood, Neb. The recent appearance of Senator Goldwater at the University Coliseum presented a new high in demagoguery. Senator Goldwater has strange ideas concerning conservative friends. He labels Senator Fred Seaton a conservative and paints a tint of pink on Ted Sorensen for his ADA connection. Doesn't Senator Goldwater remember that Fred Seaton was once a short-time, hand-picked U.S. senator and his voting records indicated that he supported ADA measures over 90 per cent of the time? Is this a conservative?

Modern Composer, Henry Cowell, Won't Retire At 65

By ROBERT PETERSON

Henry Cowell is one of America's leading composers. As his work is marked by novel inventiveness utilizing unusual patterns of atonality, dissonance, and percussion, it is worth noting that his creative originality springs not from youth, but from maturity. At 65 he is beholden to no personnel office decree that he must now retire. Free to continue working, this ebullient musician with blue eyes flashing behind horn-rimmed glasses intends to woo his musical muse "forever."

The compositions of this native San Franciscan have grown increasingly significant. He has written some 70 works for symphony orchestra, and among his numerous creations in the past half dozen years are three new symphonies. In the past half dozen years he has also circled the globe twice and lectured in dozens of foreign cities on contemporary American music, serving notice to the world that we have something more serious to offer than boogie-woogie and jazz.

When I called on him the other day I asked whether retirement has any appeal. "None whatever," replied this gifted composer who spends his mornings creating new musical works and his afternoons teaching. "Retiring would be like dying."

Does age dampen creativity? "In my case it seems to have stimulated it," he said firmly. "Of course the notion is prevalent that as one grows older ideas and concepts fail to ignite as brightly or as speedily as before. But I can honestly say that at three score and five new themes are constantly bubbling into my consciousness and I have less time than ideas."

When I learned that 14 of his 15 symphonies were composed following his 40th birthday I asked what is involved in creating such a work. "A symphony is a large work of 4 to 7 movements and lasting at least 25 minutes. Composing a symphony means that you must write parts for all the 40 to 80 or more instruments in the orchestra and bring them together into a unified whole."

"In younger years I wrote a lot of works for piano. But since passing 40 I've found my forte in doing things for orchestra. With a panorama of experience one is able to conceive works of wider scope. Without that experience you simply cannot do it."

Did he have any views on health and longevity? "I believe in living moderately, getting some exercise every day, and watching my waistline. I eat a little of everything except innards — things such as liver and heart seem to trigger a touch of gout. But except for this I'm in fine shape and hope to be hard at work on a new symphony when I'm 100."

Let's hope those retiring to a life of leisure at 65 may be inspired by Cowell's enthusiasm for work. Although there is something to be said for taking things easier in later years, evidence is accumulating that longevity favors those who continue using skills and abilities.

West Memphis, Ark. (AP)—A West Memphis man and his wife take separate flights when they make trips by air. They have 4 small children and like to spread out the risks. Recently the wife asked a young ticket agent for two tickets to the same city on separate planes.

"Honey," reassured the young lady, "It's all right to go on the same plane. Nobody'll know you're traveling together."

Announcement Of Frontier Appeal Due By Tuesday

An attorney for Frontier Airlines said Monday that a decision on a possible appeal to the recent State Railway Commission decision concerning the airlines' northern route will be announced by Tuesday.

Lincoln Atty. Chauncey C. Sheldon said that he has talked with a vice president of the company in Denver, Colo., but was unable to reach William A. Nelson, Frontier's head consul.

Sheldon said that although the vice president could not speak for the new owners of the airlines, he indicated to him that it was assumed an appeal would be lodged in the State Supreme Court.

The airlines on Friday was ordered by the commission to resume service on segment 13 of its northern route within 60 days. Services had been discontinued on the segment in late December.

No Conclusions Reached In Death Of Abrahamzon

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Dr. Jim Reed, coroner, said Monday no conclusions have been reached on the cause of death of John Melvin Abrahamzon, 20-year-old University of Nebraska student.

Abrahamzon, of Shelton, Neb., died Saturday in a fraternity house at the University of Kansas. He came here Friday to attend an interfraternity meeting.

Dr. Reed said an autopsy failed to determine cause of death. He added that specimens have been sent to the state laboratory at Topeka and that the youth's medical history is being checked.

Shrine Circus Proves Potent Youth-Restorer

By GENE BUDIG
Star Staff Writer

It happened in Lincoln Monday: the old became new.

For nearly 5 hours, arthritic pains and over-due bills were forgotten as the better-than-ever Shrine Circus paraded its 1962 wares for 2 performances.

The Fairgrounds Coliseum rang with more than generous applause for:

—The daring man on the flying trapeze who, incidentally, is more daring than ever.

—A brood of zany canines, skillfully disorganized by Dwight Moore, who led them to fame on the Ed Sullivan Show.

—The Golden Kids, 4 school-age performers, who thrive on perfection atop cycles.

—Lion trainer Dave Hoover, who doesn't have to make apologies to Clyde Beatty rooters.

—The Merchants of Mirth, the beloved clowns, whose routines always bring out the dimples.

—The cotton candy man who was constantly badgered by pennies.

Kennedy Urges Nation To Do Its All For Kids

Washington (UPI) — President Kennedy said Monday unless the nation does all it can to give its children a better life we shall not have fulfilled our obligation as a people.

Congratulating the Federal Children's Bureau on its 50th anniversary, the President praised the bureau, but said

"there is still a good deal to do."

"We must commit ourselves to this unfinished business," he said.

Kennedy pointed out that there still are too many children dropping out of school. Others, he said, are not getting proper inoculations, and too many are being left at home by working parents.

Bad Check Nets 2-4 Year Term

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele sentenced an Oakland, Calif. man to from two to 4 years in the Men's Reformatory on a fraudulent check charge.

Noah M. Hardesty, alias N. Hardesty or Bill Hardesty, 36, had pleaded guilty to issuing a $25 no-account check Feb. 10.

"We shall not have fulfilled our obligation as a people unless our children have an opportunity to make something of their lives," he told an overflow meeting of social workers and doctors and nurses.

Pointing out the progress made with children to date, the President said in 1915 one baby out of every 10 born alive died before its first birthday. Fewer than 3 of 100 babies born alive today die in infancy, the President said.

Kennedy also took time out from his speech to wish Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Abraham Ribicoff a happy birthday.

Liability Insurance Bids Called By NU

The University of Nebraska is calling for bids at 10 a.m. Monday, April 16, on general liability insurance for 9 of its buildings.

All premiums are to be calculated on a 3-year annual payment basis for $100,000 limit for bodily injury or death to one person and $300,000 limit for injury or death to two or more persons resulting from one accident.

The buildings to be covered are: Nebraska Center for Continuing Education; Nebraska Union; Sellen Quad; Women's Residence Hall; University Park Apartments; University Health Center; and Twin Towers Dormitory.

The sealed proposals will be opened in Room 511, Administration Hall.

Said the President: "This is a double birthday party. The children's bureau is 50 years old and so is Secretary Ribicoff." Kennedy quipped that 50 was an "awkward" age for Ribicoff—"he is too young to retire and too old to be President."

In a separate speech, Ribicoff called for an intensified public and private effort to prevent basic social ills which hamper the development of American youth.

He said that the next half century should be devoted to eliminating juvenile delinquency, illness and illiteracy.

"Our past was highly creditable," Ribicoff said. "But let us not be complacent about it, for our greatest challenges lie ahead of us."

TOP ROLE PLAYED BY ADVISERS

... On RS70

Presidential advisers Theodore Sorensen and Walter Rostow have played a heavy role in the administration's recommended cut-back of the B70 (now RS70) program, according to the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee.

The committee, in its current newsletter, quotes articles in the Chicago Sun-Times and the Indianapolis News to support its position.

Sorensen, a former Lincolnite, is special counsel to the President and his chief speech-writer; Rostow is now chairman of the State Department's policy planning council.

Dolls Criticized

Vienna (AP)—A Czechoslovakian Communist Youth newspaper has criticized dolls on display in store windows for corresponding "to the bourgeois ideas of a perfect young lady." Because of such dolls, says "Semma," girls may grow up to be "more interested in fashion than in news about the production of synthetic chlorophyll."

Sentenced To Pen For Non-Support

Leonard Ellsworth Yates, 30, of Denver, Colo., was sentenced by Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele to one year in the State Penitentiary on a non-support charge.

Yates had pleaded guilty to failing to pay for the support of his children from May 1, 1961, to Nov. 1, 1961.

Ruth A. Brown Is Dead At 60

Miss Ruth Alice Brown, 60, of 2928 O'Reilly Dr., a secretary in the office of Schools Supt. Steven Watkins, died Saturday.

Born in Ottumwa, Ia., she had lived in Lincoln since 1932. She was a member of First Christian Church and the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Survivors include 5 sisters, Mrs. Glenn Deeter of Lincoln, Miss Genevieve Brown of Indianapolis, Ind., Mrs. Glenn W. Buck of Crete, Mrs. Lawrence Kane of Lawrence, Kan., and Mrs. Frank Kesselring of Batavia, Ia., and two brothers, Ted R. of Ottumwa and Harold of Blue Island, Ill.

The GOP committee points to a story in the Chicago paper which reported that the B-70 curtailment was the result of a conference between Rostow and Soviet First Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov in November 1960.

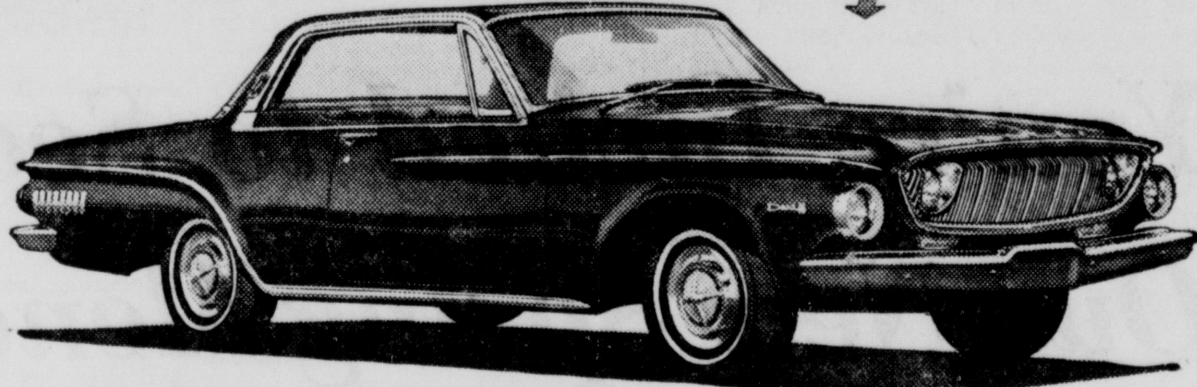

Rostow was said to have recommended to President-elect Kennedy that the U.S. decrease its "first strike" capabilities to assure the Russians that it intended no aggression, only defense.

The President's 1961 defense message, the News is quoted as saying, "reverberated" with Rostow's advice.

Directing preparation of the message, according to the Sun-Times, was Sorensen, "whose views on military service have made him a controversial figure," the newsletter stated.

"The Indianapolis News story will say that as a result of the Rostow-Sorensen recommendations the B70 superbomber and the Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile were deleted from the budget last year," the Republican publication said.

Sophia Loren, Schell Top Award Winners

... 'WEST SIDE STORY' BEST PICTURE

Santa Monica, Calif. (AP) — Maximilian Schell, the flinty defender of Nazi war criminals in "Judgment at Nuremberg," and Sophia Loren, the earthy war refugee of "Two Women," were hailed the best actor and actress of 1961 at the Academy Awards Monday night.

"West Side Story," a dance-opera of rumbles and romance, among New York street gangs, was named best picture of the year, and scored 10 awards in all.

The film won for supporting performers Rita Moreno and George Chakiris and directors Jerome Robbins and Robert Wise.

Two Foreigners

It was the first time since 1939 that two foreign performers have copped Hollywood's two most coveted prizes. In that year, Britain's Vivien Leigh was best actress for "Gone With the Wind" and fellow countryman Robert Donat was best actor for "Goodbye Mr. Chips."

The 31-year-old Vienna-born Schell, younger brother of ac-triss Maria Schell, went to the stage and kissed the hand of presenter Joan Crawford.

He thanked his co-workers of "Judgment at Nuremberg," "especially that great old man, Spencer Tracy, who was nominated this year for the 8th time.

Had Luck

He added that when he first came to the United States a customs man asked him what he was going to do. When the actor said "make a movie," the customs man answers, "good luck, boy."

Schell added: "I've had it." Italy's Miss Loren did not travel from Europe for the awards. Her Oscar was accepted by former winner Greer Garson.

Miss Moreno gasped with surprise when her name was announced as winner. She advanced to the stage with a gloved hand to her astonished face.

"I can't believe it," shrieked the 30-year-old Puerto Rican. "Good Lord! I leave you with that."

Both Miss Moreno and Chakiris, her date for the evening, flew in from the Pacific for the awards. He came from filmmaking in Hawaii, she from a film in the Philippines.

"All the way over I wondered how it would be to fly 18 hours and then lose," she remarked backstage. "Thank heavens I don't have to find out."

Accepted Hug

Chakiris, born in Norwood, Ohio, of Greek descent, and risen from chorus ranks of Hollywood musicals, accepted a hug from Miss Moreno when he won his award.

He strode to the stage with lithe steps.

"I don't think I'll try to talk too much; I'll just say thank you very much," said the 27-year-old dancer-actor shyly.

Chakiris won the film industry's top prize for his first screen acting. Afterward he was asked if he thought he had a chance of victory.

Didn't Think So

"I didn't really think so," he gulped. "I was hoping, but I didn't want to hope too much."

There was a brief flurry outside the auditorium before the crowd began arriving, when police broke up a picket line and arrested a dozen on charges of trespassing. The grounds: the Academy had leased the property for the evening.

The pickets said they represented the Hollywood Race Relations Bureau, which in recent weeks has picketed studios and premiers protesting "unrealistic portrayal of Negroes in films." The National Association for the Advancement of Colored people said it does not endorse the group, and is working separately with producers on the subject of portrayal of Negroes.

N.Y. City Teachers Agree To Hold Off Strike

New York (AP)—United Federation of Teachers negotiators agreed late Monday night to hold off on a strike of the city's 40,000 public school teachers that had been threatened to start Tuesday.

The announcement came from Max J. Rubin, president of the board of education. It followed a 20-minute negotiation session between the board and UFT officers.

The agreement—details of which were not made public—requires ratification by the union's delegate assembly.

That assembly stood poised and waiting at St. Nicholas Arena for the appearance of union president Charles Cogen and other UFT officials.

Earlier in the day, the state offered a $12 to $17 million advance of funds to ease the teachers' wage crisis.

And Mayor Robert F. Wagner announced Monday night that he planned to appoint "a committee of three distinguished citizens to investigate the issues and make recommendations by next Monday, April 16.

The union—recognized only recently as the first bargaining unit for the city's teachers—has demanded wage increases totaling $53 million a year. The board's best offer had been $27 million—and it said it didn't know where even that much money was to come from.

In announcing plans for the appointment of a fact-finding committee, Wagner said:

"If the committee finds that additional funds are available or can be made available by whatever method, I will immediately allocate such funds to the board of education for educational purposes.

"If the committee finds that such funds are not available or cannot be made available without additional enabling legislation, I will immediately request the government to call a special session of the legislature to enact such legislation as the committee recommends."

Rubin's announcement said: "If more money is available than has heretofore been stated, such funds will be allocated by the board among salary adjustments, improvement of working conditions and other educational needs.

"The board will negotiate with the bargaining agent of the teachers with respect to salary adjustments and working conditions affecting them.

"The board reaffirms its consistent position that the teachers have no right to strike. Nor can the threat of a strike legitimately influence the allocation of funds among educational needs."

The city charter forbids a strike by city employees. And, a court order obtained earlier in the day by the father of two Flushing, Queens, schoolchildren forbade a strike on another basis. However, that order had not been served by late Monday night.

The union speaks for all public school teachers, although only about 15,000 belong to the union. Federation President Charles Cogen expressed hope that at least 30,000 teachers would support

He stepped to the microphone while Shelley Winters and Vincent Edwards were presenting cinematography awards.

Urban Renewal 'Won't Harm Individual Or Neighborhood'

By B. R. ROTHENBERGER
Star Staff Writer

Urban renewal was described as a wedding of the power of eminent domain with the genius and drive of private enterprise to Chamber of Commerce listeners at a

Monday luncheon meeting. Edward J. Faulkner, chairman of the Lincoln-Lancaster Planning Commission, hailed Lincoln's approaching referendum on the establishment of an Urban Renewal Authority as an opportunity to remedy community deterioration and blight by a method that does not injure the interests of the community, the individual or the neighborhood. Strip the misunderstanding, the self-interest and the fear of federal encroachment from the matter and one will find only the practice of community self-determination made workable with the provision for the condemnation of property, he said. Urban renewal programs need not rely on federal funds nor engage in public housing projects. But they mean that a community gains the right to purchase blighted areas and may re-sell them to private enterprise for improvement and rehabilitation. There are many safeguards against injustice, and the ultimate decision to improve or not to improve always rests with the community itself, Faulkner said.

900 Renewal Programs

"It is pertinent to note," Faulkner added, that more than 900 U.S. cities are engaged constructively in urban renewal projects, some wholly without federal financing. They are eliminating run-down and blighted areas with low tax values and restoring them to attractive elements at many times their former assessed value.

Faulkner said effective urban renewal could stimulate new business and new industry by providing more enjoyable living conditions and by eliminating the tax penalties that are inherent in supporting blighted areas.

He noted that an urban renewal authority is limited to 1/4 of a mill annual revenue, but establishment of the authority does not mean that the full levy is mandatory.

Creation of a renewal area does not imply that all the structures must be razed. The authority has means of aiding through loans and other methods structural improvement of existing structures.

5,500 Move

Faulkner also pointed out that approval of urban renewal does not put into effect any present improvement proposals. It only sets up the agency that can deal with proposals. Afterward, each plan must prove feasibility and be accepted by the community.

He reminded that between 1950-60, 5,500 Lincoln people moved out of an area within one mile of the City Hall. This vacated that much of the municipal investment in services of water, sewers and light and required an addition elsewhere, leaving a legacy of progressive deterioration and declining tax revenue.

Faulkner said it is clear from this that "we pay for urban renewal whether we use it or not."

WINDY DAY FOR GROUNDBREAKING

Bishop James V. Casey turned the first spade of earth and made brief dedicatory remarks Monday afternoon in groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Catholic Center. Located on a windswept knoll southeast of the Waverly Interstate Highway interchange, the center will include 3

Atlas Explodes On Pad

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP)—An Atlas intercontinental range missile exploded into a raging fireball on its launching pad Monday, sending flames and a mushroom cloud of smoke soaring hundreds of feet above Cape Canaveral.

The 82-foot missile ignited as the count down reached zero, then suddenly was ripped by tons of exploding fuel.

Flaming pieces of the shattered rocket sprayed a wide area, but members of the launching crew were protected in a concrete-reinforced blockhouse 250 yards away.

The Atlas, an advanced F series model, was intended to fly a 5,000-mile course.

The Air Force reported no one was injured in the blast and that extent of property damage and cause of the malfunction were not known immediately.

Officials said there was no apparent damage to Atlas-Centaur and Atlas-Agena B rockets in pads flanking that used Monday. The Centaur space vehicle is scheduled for its maiden flight later this week and the Agena B is to lift a Ranger payload toward the moon late in April.

However, the fiery explosion was a severe blow to the Atlas F test program, which the Air Force hoped to wind up this year with about 10 more launchings.

Three previous Atlas pad explosions on the cape—the last one two years ago—knocked the launch facilities out of commission for periods of 6 to 8 months, with damage exceeding more than $1 million in each case.

International Satellite Ready For Launching

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP)—The world's first international satellite, devised by the United States and Great Britain, is ready for launching Tuesday before an audience of 80 members of the United Nations Outer Space Committee, including two Russian delegates.

The 28-nation U.N. group is scheduled to fly into nearby Patrick Air Force Base at 10 a.m. (EST) from New York.

Buses will transport the delegates to Cape Canaveral for a launch-pad briefing by American and British scientists.

The group is to view the firing from the central control building. There also will be extensive briefings by missile test center and space agency officials at the Project Mercury control center, the Saturn launching pad and the hanger where astronauts prepare for flight.

The Russians and delegates from some Eastern Europe countries will be the first Soviet bloc representatives to visit Cape Canaveral. Restrictions on Soviet travel in the area were relaxed to permit the trip.

The Anglo-American satellite, a 132-pound cylinder with solar paddles, booms and antennae, is to study the ionosphere and cosmic radiation.

AF Launches Fifth Sky Spy

Point Arguello, Calif. (AP)—The Air Force launched its 5th secret satellite rocket Monday—an Atlas-Agena B combination like that used for Samos and Midas sky spies.

A spokesman said the launching was successful but would not disclose whether the Agena B second stage went into orbit. This follows a policy adopted after Russia charged that the launching of such satellites was "an act of aggression."

Samos satellites carry cameras capable of photographing ground installations such as missile bases with fine detail. Midas satellites contain secret devices to detect missile launchings.

Ag Unit OKs Three Parts Of Farm Bill

Washington (AP)—In rapid fire order, the House Agriculture Committee Monday approved 3 more sections of the administration's big farm bill, leaving only the controversial milk provisions still to be acted on.

Acting Chairman W. R. Poage D-Tex., said he still has hopes for clearing the entire bill and even getting it to the House floor before the Easter recess gets under way late next week.

A key 17-14 vote came Monday on the land use title of the bill, which gives the secretary of agriculture substantial new authority to promote conservation, including retirement of submarginal land not suited to cultivation.

Since a majority of the 35-man committee is 18, the 17-14 vote indicates possible trouble for the administration in final committee voting.

Other parts of the bill approved Monday, subject to final committee vote on the bill as a whole, were the food-for-peace section, and a technical section with liberalized provision for farmers' home loans.

The food-for-peace section would allow the secretary to enter long-term agreements with private traders as well as foreign governments in the distribution of surplus food stocks owned by the government.

Misko Explains Mutual Fund Reinstating To Mrs. Brooks

Mrs. Ralph G. Brooks, Democratic candidate for governor, visited State Banking Director Ralph Misko in his office Monday and posed several questions concerning his reinstatement of "front-end load" mutual funds of which she has been critical.

Misko told her he reinstated the 4 funds in question after he studied them and found they provided for "full disclosure" and that he found "no evidence of cover-up," or "nothing in fine print."

Under the "front-end load" plan, the investor pays the salesman's commission out of the original investment. If the buyer cashes in his investment before it has earned enough to pay the commission charges, his return will total less than the original investment.

Edwin N. Van Horne, director of banking under the administration of the late Gov. Ralph Brooks, prohibited sale of these types of funds and Mrs. Brooks has said she also would prohibit them if she is elected governor.

Contacted Early

Misko said that representatives of one of the mutual funds had contacted him "10 days or two weeks after I came into office."

"After I heard their story I thought they were entitled to more consideration than they had received," Misko said.

Mrs. Brooks asked if he had held a public hearing on their reinstatement, and Misko replied that he had not, but noted that no public hearing had been held when their licenses were rescinded. "The rug was literally pulled out from under them without a hearing," he said.

Misko noted that the matter of the funds' prohibition was pending in court when he was asked to reinstate them, and that the court action was dropped after the reinstatement.

They were reinstated "with the understanding they would submit to me each month a report of their sales," the banking director said.

JENSEN FOUND GUILTY; FINES TOTAL $1,500

Lincoln builder A. T. Jensen was found guilty and fined $1,500 in Lancaster District Court on two counts of failing to pay materialmen.

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele fined Jensen $750 on each count to which Jensen had entered a nolo contendere plea.

Jensen was specifically charged with failing to apply monies paid him by Albert L. Nolan to materialmen's bills for the erection of a home at 3225 So. 39th.

Liens had been filed by the unpaid materialmen against Nolan's property.

Spanish Nuclear Experts Rescued

Madrid, Spain (AP)—Civil guards and mountain experts rescued 4 employees of the Spanish Nuclear Energy Board who had been trapped for more than 33 hours in a deep cave about 45 miles north of Madrid.

They appeared unhurt as they were brought from the depths of the recently discovered and unexplored cave. The four, on an outing, entered the cold, wet cave early Sunday and lost their way. They were without food and light after midnight. The 4, all chemists in the Nuclear Energy Board establishment here, suffered only scratches.

National Guard Fate Criticized

... BY NEB.-IA. GENERALS

The adjutant generals of Nebraska and Iowa said Monday they were "shocked" at the Defense Department's proposed elimination of the 34th Infantry Division of the Iowa-Nebraska National Guard and 10% reduction in Army National Guard units throughout the country.

Nebraska adjutant general, Maj. Gen. Lyle A. Welch, and Maj. Gen. Junior Miller, Iowa adjutant general, made the comment in a joint statement issued during Miller's visit to Lincoln.

U.S. Cellist Wins Raves From Reds

Moscow (U)—A cellist from mid-America moved Moscovites to tears in a performance Monday and won rave reviews from Russian critics. Then he was named with two other Americans to take part in the final round of the International Tchaikovsky Competition.

The outpouring of approval was lavished on Leslie Parnas, 31, of St. Louis, Mo., for his performance Monday in the second round of the contest.

It was in the Tchaikovsky contest of 1958 that another American, pianist Van Cliburn, took Moscow by storm in a musical triumph. Like Cliburn, Parnas moved the Russians with Russian music. Cliburn's greatest Moscow triumph was with Tchaikovsky's First Piano Concerto.

The Soviet news agency Tass said of Parnas' playing that "each number of his program evoked a stormy ovation."

"He played Tchaikovsky's nocturne and the Son of the Minstrel by (Alexander C.) Glazunov with such deep lyrical feeling that many in the audience were moved to tears," Tass added. (Composer Glazunov headed the St. Petersburg Conservatory before the Bolshevik Revolution).

The other Americans among the 12 cellists picked for the final round are Douglas Lynn Davis of Sun Valley, Calif., and Ellen Toby Saks of New York. But Tass said the response was greater for Parnas, calling his performance the biggest success of the day's contest.

"I am delighted by the Tchaikovsky contest," said Parnas after his performance. "I don't like to say much, preferring music to speak for me."

Lincoln Couple Is Injured In Texas Accident

A Lincoln couple, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley L. McVay of 2511 R., were injured in an automobile-truck accident Saturday morning 25 miles outside of Amarillo, Texas, in which the auto was declared a total loss.

According to Mrs. McVay's mother, Mrs. Ora Landess, McVay received a leg cut and Mrs. McVay is hospitalized in Amarillo with a shoulder injury.

They are expected to return to Lincoln Wednesday or Thursday.

2 Lincoln People Injured In 2-Car Crash In Illinois

Mrs. Selma Bernstein, 49, and her son Zeff, 22, of 2035 Lake, were injured in a two-car accident near Moline, Ill., shortly after noon Monday.

The Bernstein car was in collision with one driven by Walter J. Kalockay of Rock Island, Ill., at a rural intersection, according to state police.

Zeff Bernstein suffered a broken left arm and was reported in good condition at the Moline Public Hospital. Mrs. Bernstein, suffering lacerations, was also said to be in good condition.

Young Bernstein is a senior at the University of Nebraska.

Wesleyan U. Official Is Reported Improved

Warren Parker, Wesleyan University executive who suffered a heart attack in Evansville, Ind. March 15, was reported in improved condition at a hospital in Evansville.

No date for his release and return to Lincoln has been set. Parker suffered a heart attack after accompanying the Wesleyan basketball team to Evansville for the NCAA small college basketball tournament.

We were "shocked to learn that the Department of Defense would consider the elimination of the 34th Inf. Div., Iowa-Nebraska National Guard at a time when the world situation is critical enough to require a partial mobilization of National Guard troops," the generals commented.

"The 34th Division is presently on the highest plateau of training achievement in its history. A very high percentage of its officer personnel is professionally qualified for the positions they occupy. The enlisted personnel are active Army-trained, having completed 6 months basic training as a prerequisite to National Guard membership."

Welch and Miller said the present aggregate strength of the division is 9,199, and that the average age of the membership is 24 years.

Seventy per cent of the officers are under 40 years of age, they continued, and the officers' average length of service is 14 years.

The average length of service of non-commissioned officers is 7½ years, and 48% of the officers have had two years or more of active duty, the general continued.

"The Division is sufficiently trained to meet its mobilization mission should the occasion arise, and could give a good strong account of itself."

"This Division is already in being, strong and ready. It seems to us that now would be an inopportune time to eliminate a Division of our first line of defense," Welch and Miller concluded.

New Fallout Shelter Open For Viewing

The public is invited to tour the new Irvingdale Fallout Shelter at 18th and Van Dorn Tuesday following dedication ceremonies at 2 p.m.

The shelter, which is a joint effort of the federal, state, city and county governments, will give disaster protection to 1500 persons on the "first-come, first-served basis," according to city-county Civil Defense Director Richard Vesteska.

Gov. Frank Morrison, Mayor Bartlett Boyles and County Board Chairman Ralph Harlan will speak at the dedication ceremonies.

Preceding the ceremonies a dedicatory luncheon will feature Paul S. Visser, Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense, who will be present for the ceremonies.

SANE Group Plans Protest

University of Nebraska students who belong to the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy (SANE) have made plans to appear at the dedication of the fallout shelter at 18th and Van Dorn Tuesday in protest of the advisability of shelters.

EDUCATIONAL FUNDS INVESTMENT OKAYED

The State Board of Educational Lands and Funds approved the investment of $490,000 in U.S. government bonds and $250,000 in Federal Land Bank securities.

The federal bonds will yield a 3½% interest and will expire in 1968. The land bank securities will yield 3½% interest and expires in 5 years.

The funds invested in government bonds include $125,000 from the permanent school fund, $200,000 in the school employees' savings fund, $150,000 in the annuity reserve fund, and $15,000 in the safety patrolmen's retirement fund.

The $250,000 for land bank securities comes from the service annuity fund.

Potato Chip Firm Entered, Searched

A desk had been ransacked but nothing was reported missing.

Labor Board Is Winner In Highest Court

Washington (U)—The National Labor Relations Board won a victory Monday when the Supreme Court told lower courts not to stray from a 1951 ruling in overturning NLRB decisions.

The 11-year-old guidelines—the Universal Camera Corp. case—said the courts may not "displace the board's choice between two fairly conflicting views."

Monday's 6-2 decision ordered the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans to reconsider its ruling which overturned board orders directing 3 firms to reinstate with back pay workers fired in labor disputes.

Involved are Walter Manufacturing Co. and Loganville Pants Co. — jointly owned garment firms in Loganville, Ga. — and the Florida Citrus Canners co-operative in Lake Wales, Fla.

The NLRB, backed by the Justice Department, complained that the New Orleans court has frequently applied improper principles in substituting its own judgment for that of the board.

Seek White Settlers

Johannesburg (U)—South Africa hopes to get thousands of white settlers from Kenya as that British colony moves toward independence. The South African government is offering grants of money and easy-term loans to lure probably as many as 20,000 settlers from Kenya.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplano

The Battle of the Butts goes on apace in smoky England—"I shell hev to esk you to put out the cigarette," said the fishmonger in King's road primly.

He pointed to a newly-placed sign in the shop, above the flounders:

"In the interests of hygiene and health, may we request you refrain from smoking on these premises."

The Government is printing and distributing such signs with vim and vigor.

Smoking has been prohibited voluntarily by a dozen county councils—during meetings, that is.

All 236 branches of Marks and Spencer's chain stores won't let you smoke while shopping. And there is talk of additional taxes. Not only on cigarettes, already taxed up to a buying price of 60 cents, but on cigarette advertising.

In the midst of this campaign appears this day in Wimbledon Juvenile Court 9-year-old Master X—(all juvy names are withheld here).

"The trouble with this boy," said his mother, "is not so much his drinking. It's the smoking gets me down.

"He just won't stop. If he has not got one of his own, it's nag, nag, nag until I give him one of mine."

The court case showed what smoking can lead to—and I am surprised British TV has not put the boy on the air.

TV is government-owned. It has been whooping up commercials against cigarettes with all the Madison avenue gimmicks used for cigarette companies. It is interesting to watch. Surprising stuff.

Young Master X graduated from the vile weed onto beery stout. "His 12-year-old sister has the occasional shandy with her brother. And the boy will have a glass of stout or light ale when his dad comes home in the evening."

But this was not the end. He and his sister began ordering their parents to bed at 9:30. They stayed up, banged the cigarettes and watched TV. It was a ball until they stopped going to school and the truant officers stepped in.

The officers groped their way through the smoke. And were amazed to find this child-dominated household.

"I suppose it's my fault," the distraught mother told them. "I never belted him when he was young. It just got to the stage where he was the boss."

Rules against smoking are much easier to enforce in Britain. (Curiously enough, in the midst of the recent small-pox scare in Wales, there was no way to force vaccination. It's an invasion of British rights. And all kinds of hell would pop if you interfered with them.)

Most London clubs absolutely prohibit smoking in the dining room. They always have.

At formal luncheons, there is no smoking until after the "Loyal Toast."

This comes around coffee time. The chairman rises and says: "The Queen!"

Everybody belts down the rest of whatever grog is in front of him.

The chairman says, "Gentlemen, you may now smoke."

All this to the dismay of American guests. They have been smoking up a storm and wondering why everybody was glaring at them.

In the days when Hogarth was drawing "Gin Alley"—and half of England was so-totally drunk on penny-a-glass gin—the government upped the taxes. (It is a well-known fact that the rich can handle squareface. But it is bad for the poor.)

One thing you can definitely say: It stopped off the curse of gin, curse it.

And no doubt the government here is going to do the same thing with tobacco. Sell your stock and start cutting down, 'erbert.

Work Sought On Nebr. 15

Gov. Frank Morrison acquired a new string tie Monday, along with a "shaver's permit" and a handful of wooden nickels.

Kenneth Carson of Pilger presented the mementos to the chief executive to publicize Pilger's Diamond Jubilee Celebration scheduled June 23-24.

The occasion also publicized a similar Diamond Jubilee Celebration scheduled at Howells June 8-10.

Pilger and Howells representatives, some in beards, were part of a 7-member delegation which called on the governor to discuss the possibility of speeded work on a stretch of Nebraska Highway 15, north of Nebraska 91 and south of Pilger.

Noting reports that the State Department of Roads might get started this biennium on some projects which will be part of the highway building program for the next biennium, the delegation inquired about prospects for such a speed-up on the Nebraska 15 project.

It Seems To Me

Nice To Be Tall — But

only, starting at the shoulder from a wide neckline, and then runs diagonally across the bodice to the side seam just under the bust line. It's generally used with a full gathered skirt. The combination of the diagonal bodice line and the gathered skirt will give you the softer look you want.

The four boxes in the sketch illustrate other lines flattering to tall slims. The second in the form of a "T" can be carried out in a coat or jacket that buttons up the front and has a wide oversized collar. The third box, with the two vertical lines, is very good if executed properly. The two lines must be far apart to give the effect you want. If placed too close together, they will make you look even taller and slimmer. The lines should start from the shoulder dart and continue down over the bust and to the hem. This can be done on either a one piece or a two piece dress, using a plain seam line, a detailed seam such as a slot seam, or trim.

The fourth box is the easiest to work out—just one line running across the body. An example would be a loose fitting overtop that ends at the wide part of the neckline. This line can be emphasized even more by trimming the bottom of the overtop with braid, fringe, lace, etc., depending on the occasion for which it is intended.

The last box that looks like an arrow can be used in a slim sheath. This will cut the long line and severity of the silhouette. A center front seam or button front closing from hem to neckline will give you the base of the arrow. The arrowhead can be long tabs that slant down and towards the sides (like the arrow), or a large, droopy bow.

Generally, you can wear extremes such as tight waists, very full skirts, two piece dresses, tunics, over-skirts, peplums, three-quarter length coats and extreme details. Two-tone color schemes are excellent with the lighter or brighter color where you are most slender. Dark shades emphasize thinness... bright hues, white, pastels give a fuller figure effect.

Avoid short, tight sleeves, designs with straight up and down lines and skirts that are too short.

The bidding:

4♠	Pass	5♠	Pass
4♠	Pass	Dble.

Opening lead — ace of hearts.

You can't lay down exact rules to cover the field of tactics. Tactical considerations are frequently more important than technical considerations, because what you are after in a given deal is to get the best result possible rather than the best possible result. Psychology is too sensitive an area in which to try to conform to exact patterns and rigid principles.

This hand occurred in the match between Los Angeles and Houston (the winner) last year. When the California pair held the North-South cards, the bidding went as shown. Five spades doubled went down one, declarer losing a spade, a diamond and a club.

East's three heart bid was strength showing. East wanted to distinguish his hand from one with which he might have bid two hearts with less values. West naturally bid five hearts over four spades and North decided to sacrifice.

When the hand was played at the second table, with a Texan pair North-South, the bidding went:

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	Pass	3♥
3♠	4♥	4♠	Pass
4♠	Pass	Dble.

At this table, South thought it was better tactically to bid only three spades over three hearts. He realized that East-West could make at least four hearts, in view of his partner's pass to one spade, and he planned to bid up to four spades, and possibly five, single-handed.

He didn't want to stir the opponents into bidding five hearts, and he felt that a direct four spade bid might do just this. His strategy certainly worked out on the actual hand, since he made four spades doubled. West bid four hearts, as expected, and then doubled four spades. East-West were wrong, it turned out, to let the Texans play at four spades, but it was hard for them to gauge that that contract was on ice. East might or might not have made five hearts, depending on how the play went, but in either case it would have been a far better contract than four spades doubled.

Dear Abby

Quit Hammer Lock

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My older sister, who is almost 18, and her boy friend, who is 18, rattle together in our living room sometimes. It embarrasses me. I wonder if you think it is all right. They have fun and he never really hurts her. I think they should not rattle like this. Am I being silly?

KID SISTER
DEAR SISTER: No, you are being sensible. They are almost old enough for wedding—time to quit the hammer lock.

DEAR ABBY: Charles and I have been married eleven years. His parents live in the same city and my husband is their only child. Don't get me wrong, Abby, they are nice people and we get along fine. But about three or four nights a week, and all day Sunday, they visit us. Charles goes out in the garage and works on his car or else he goes down in the basement to his workshop, and I am left to listen to them and talk to them. When I complain (in a nice way) Charles tells me that after a hard day's work he likes to "relax." I'd like to relax, too. But how?

TRAPPED AND BORED
DEAR T. AND B.: Collar Charles when he is good and "relaxed," and tell him you are resigning as head of the entertainment committee. If he can't help you keep his parents company, he should at least take turns. (P.S. Don't you have a television set? It could solve your problem and EVERYBODY could relax.)

DEAR ABBY: I work adjacent to a marriage bureau and see the couples applying for marriage licenses. Sometimes it makes me sad to see the youngsters who are marrying. The boy hangs back, shyly, and makes the girl do all the talking. They look so childish. I want to say, "Don't do it. Wait! You are only babies." Of course I don't dare. There are older couples in their middle twenties and early 30's. They know where they are going and what they are getting into. And when the older couples come in, we are delighted. They are so cute together, and we think, "Bravo for them. No more loneliness." COURTHOUSE EMPLOYEE

CONFIDENTIAL TO RUTH AND REBECCA: If I knew how to "catch" a man in order to "Have A Lovely Wedding," I wouldn't sell the information for 50c.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Evening Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Lois Ann Steva, daughter of Mrs. Carl W. Steva, and the late Mr. Steva, to Clarence F. Christen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Christen, was solemnized Friday evening, April 6, at St. Paul's Evangelical Church. The lines of the 8 o'clock service were read by the Rev. Arthur G. Crisp in the presence of only the members of the immediate families.

The maid of honor and the bride's only attendant was Miss Joan Meyer.

Serving Mr. Christen as best man was O. L. Ham.

The bride wore for her wedding a white sheath and jacket costume with a small hat of white feathers veiled with illusion. A shoulder corsage of pink carnations completed her ensemble.

Mr. and Mrs. Christen will reside at 1846 So. 41st.

from the famous porcelain factory of Bing & Grondahl, Copenhagen, Denmark.

Won't you come in and view these works of art and receive your copy of "The Story of the Christmas Plates"?

The first Christmas plate was made in 1895, and at the end of the year the mold was destroyed to prevent the same pattern from ever being produced again, thus enhancing the value of the plates as collectors' pieces. Each succeeding year a new plate was designed and made for one year only.

With each passing year the Christmas plates of former years become more scarce and more sought after, and consequently, more valuable.

The first Christmas plate that you acquire becomes the forerunner of a proud collection. These beautiful plates present exquisite Danish scenes that capture the heart, with delicately muted shades reflecting the blue of the heavens and the white of new fallen snow.

If you choose to order a Christmas plate from past years (there are some available), there will be a special 10% discount during the two weeks of the exhibit.

PALMER — MASTER OF THE MASTERS

August, Ga. (AP)—Miracle worker Arnold Palmer came off the floor again Monday and rallied with a withering streak of birdies to win his 3rd Masters Golf championship in an unprecedented 3-way playoff with Gary Player and Dow Finsterwald. Palmer shot a 4 under par 68, Player 71 and Finsterwald 77.

Down 3 shots to Player after the first 9 holes, the powerful, unshakable young pro from Latrobe, Pa., knocked in birdies on 5 of the Cincinnati (AP)—The Philadelphia Phils, who lost their first 17 games with Cincinnati last year, didn't roll over and play dead Monday for the defending National League champion Reds.

They clubbed 5 Cincinnati pitchers for a 12-4 victory behind the 9-hit pitching of Art Mahaffey and some timely hitting in their season opener.

The game, played under bright sunshine, attracted 28,605 fans but a strong wind chilled the customers and

Former Chiefs' Ace Hurls Nats To Win

. . . DETROIT LOSES OPENER, 4-1

Washington (AP)—Bennie Daniels, former Lincoln ace, picked up where President Kennedy left off Monday and pitched Washington to a 4-1 victory over Detroit before the largest crowd ever to see a baseball game in the nation's capital.

A weekend of rains, dark clouds and a thundershower that delayed the game for 22 minutes didn't dim the enthusiasm of the 44,383 fans who jammed the new District of Columbia Stadium to see the start of the American League season.

Kennedy opened the show with a toss that fell through the hands of a mob of ball players and fell to the ground, where it was pounced on eagerly by Senator relief pitcher Marty Kutyna. He dashed quickly to get the President's autograph on his trophy.

The President braved the shower and a foul ball that nearly beamed him to watch the entire game.

Daniels struck out 7 and walked only two in winning on his first opening day appearance. He also made two errors and singled to drive in a run.

Bob Johnson led the 13-hit Senator attack with 3 hits, two singles and a two-run homer that put the Senators ahead in the 4th.

Washington added two more runs in a wild 7th inning. Chuck Cottier beat out a slow bouncer in front of the plate, then took second on a bad throw to first. He scored on Bob Schmidt's single to right field and Schmidt usually reserved Finsterwald seemed almost in a state of shock.

In adding the 1962 Masters to the crowns he won in 1958 and 1960, Palmer established himself firmly as the king of present day golfers — a titan to be compared with the great Bob Jones and Ben Hogan of past eras.

He has proved himself not only a craftsman to be compared with the immortals, but a dogged fighter of the links with a knack for snatching victory from imminent defeat. He is the game's greatest counter-puncher of all-time. He hits back hardest when he's hurt.

18,000 Watch

A crowd of 18,000 lining the fairway and jamming the small hillside around the 18th green, gave the champion a roaring reception after he barely missed a 40-foot putt which would have given him a record tying 30 for the back 9.

The back stretch of Augusta National's 6,990-yard, par 72 test is rated the toughest by most golfers but Palmer plucked out its teeth and made it purr like a kitten. He played the back nine in 17 strokes under par for the tournament.

The victory, worth $20,000, sent Palmer to the head of professional golf's money winning list and gave him the first leg of the projected modern grand slam — including the U.S. and British Opens and the PGA — which he barely missed two years ago. He won the Masters and U.S. Open, missed the British by a stroke and led the first round of the PGA.

Comeback Surge

Palmer began his comeback surge at the 470-yard 10th hole, where he rolled in a 30-foot putt from the back edge of the green and got back two strokes from Player, who overshot the green and missed a 5½ foot putt for a bogey.

The 32-year-old product of a Western Pennsylvania coal area, who learned his golf at the elbow of his father, surged to the front on the 155-yard golden bell 12th, which has become Palmer's historic hole.

There Arnold sent his tee shot flying to within 3½ feet of the pin. Player, visibly shaken, took 3 putts from the back edge for a bogey 4, and it was evident that the contest was over.

Hit Spectator

Finsterwald bogeyed the first hole and on the second had his drive shatter against the cheek of a woman spectator, who was led from the course with blood gushing from the side of her face. This obviously upset the gaunt young professional from Athens, Ohio. He went from bad to worse.

After Palmer rolled in his long putt at the 10th, he turned to a friend and winked, saying "the game is on." This for years has been the young professional's battle move.

"I knew mister Arnold was going after he got that putt," said Nathaniel (High Man) Avery, Palmer's caddy for the last 8 years in the Masters. "He jerked at his glove, tugged at his trousers and started walking fast.

"Watch Out"

"When mister Arnold starts walking fast, you better watch out."

Palmer parred the 11th the hard way with a chip two feet from the pin, then spun off 3 straight birdies.

He got a deuce at the 12th, where a favorable ruling on an imbedded ball gave him victory in 1958 and a triple bogey 6 cost him the championship in 1959.

At the 13th, moving in for the kill, he went for the green over a hazardous stretch of water and two putted from about 20 feet for a birdie 4. He rolled in a 16-footer at the 14th and his final birdie came at the 16th, scene of his miraculous recovery Sunday.

There he laid a 6-iron shot about 10 feet from the pin and hit the back of the cup with such rattling force that you could almost see it shake.

Only One Better

He parred in for his 37-31. The only man ever to play the back 9 better was Jimmy Demaret, who set the record of 30 back in 1940.

Demaret is one of the other two 3-time winners. He won in 1940, 1947 and 1950. Sam Snead won the title in 1949, 1952 and 1954, beating Ben Hogan the latter year in a playoff.

Player finished dramatically by sinking an 18-foot putt on the final hole, but it was too late.

The small, intense South African started the playoff brilliantly, sinking 8-foot putts for birdies on the first two holes to move out ahead of his rivals.

Player bogeyed the 5th, taking 3 strokes from 30 feet, but he got the stroke back on the next hole, the 190-yard juniper hole, where he rolled in his putt from 8 feet.

The defending champion made the turn in a 2-under-par 34, 3 shots better than Palmer and 6 better than Finsterwald, who never got going.

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant

Sports Editor, The Star

Bobby's Ready

Bobby Shantz is ready to challenge the National League as a starting pitcher.

The authority for this is Lincolnite Bill Murrell, just returned from a spring training sojourn with the Shantz family in Arizona where the Houston Colts were hard at it.

"Bobby really looks good," Murrell said. "He told me his arm hasn't felt this good for several years and he's looking forward to a good year."

Murrell, longtime friend of the former Lincoln A's ace lefty who went on to become a Most Valuable Player in the American League, had some other interesting reports from the Houston camp.

"Boy, they're really working," he said. "Bobby indicated everyone in camp was acting like a rookie—all trying to make the squad."

Another report, which isn't surprising considering the reputation Texans have for doing things in a big way.

"The word around the Houston camp is that the Colts are planning to make good in the National League—and they don't plan to spare any expense."

Good Spring

Murrell said Shantz is happy and confident about prospects of being a starting pitcher, rather than a bull pen habituate.

"Bobby said he's had the best spring in years and is really looking forward to a regular starting assignment," Bill said.

It's going to be like old times for Shantz, too, Murrell said.

"I had a nice visit with Al Cicotte, who's going to be Bobby's roommate again," Bill said.

Shantz and Cicotte were "roomies" when both were pitching for the New York Yankees.

Not The Cellar

Murrell reported that the Colts are aware of the fact that the experts are tabbing them for a tail-end role in the National League this summer.

"Everyone from Paul Richards and Harry Craft on down realize they have problems," Bill said. "But they're all working hard to prove the experts wrong."

"Nobody is planning on winning the pennant, but the Colts don't look or act like a cellar club," Bill said. "They're going to fool some people—and they're not going to be last."

"When mister Arnold starts walking fast, you better watch out."

Palmer parred the 11th the hard way with a chip two feet from the pin, then spun off 3 straight birdies.

He got a deuce at the 12th, where a favorable ruling on an imbedded ball gave him victory in 1958 and a triple bogey 6 cost him the championship in 1959.

At the 13th, moving in for the kill, he went for the green over a hazardous stretch of water and two putted from about 20 feet for a birdie 4. He rolled in a 16-footer at the 14th and his final birdie came at the 16th, scene of his miraculous recovery Sunday.

There he laid a 6-iron shot about 10 feet from the pin and hit the back of the cup with such rattling force that you could almost see it shake.

Only One Better

He parred in for his 37-31. The only man ever to play the back 9 better was Jimmy Demaret, who set the record of 30 back in 1940.

Demaret is one of the other two 3-time winners. He won in 1940, 1947 and 1950. Sam Snead won the title in 1949, 1952 and 1954, beating Ben Hogan the latter year in a playoff.

Player finished dramatically by sinking an 18-foot putt on the final hole, but it was too late.

The small, intense South African started the playoff brilliantly, sinking 8-foot putts for birdies on the first two holes to move out ahead of his rivals.

Player bogeyed the 5th, taking 3 strokes from 30 feet, but he got the stroke back on the next hole, the 190-yard juniper hole, where he rolled in his putt from 8 feet.

The defending champion made the turn in a 2-under-par 34, 3 shots better than Palmer and 6 better than Finsterwald, who never got going.

John Gets Wet; Visits With Umps

Washington (AP)—Rain delayed the baseball game between the Washington Senators and the Detroit Tigers Sunday—and sent President Kennedy, who threw out the first ball, scurrying for cover.

Kennedy spent part of the 23-minute intermission visiting with the umpires in their dressing room.

He chatted with umpires Joe Paparella and Hank Soar, and relaxed in a metal deck chair next to the soft drink refrigerator.

Nebraska prep weightmen are off to a roaring start, perhaps the best in history.

Grand Island's southpaw Jim Beltzer has fired the shot and discuss into the spotlight with early performances that place him at the top of each event on this week's field charts.

Beltzer's 59-7½ shot is the all-time best and within shouting distance of 60 feet, an

Tough Tony Ready For The Sheik

Tough Tony Borne, with the aid of his manager Leo The Lion Newman, will test his rising ability against the wild man of Sahara at Pershing Auditorium tonight.

The Sheik and Borne will meet in the main event of Promoter Jack Pesek's Pershing Auditorium pro grapple. It will be 2 of 3 falls or 60 minutes.

"You just can't tell what those two guys will do when they get worked up," said Pesek, bracing for expected brawl.

The Pershing mat show starts at 8:30 p.m.

In the semifinal, Bobby Managoff and Ivan Gorky will scrap in a 2-of-3 fall, 45-minute limit match.

Rocky Hamilton, back from a grapple tour of the Far East, will take on Thor Hagen in the special event, slated for one fall or 30 minutes.

Opening the card will be a one-fall match between Chief Little Eagle and Jack Frazier.

Stevens Will Coach Sooner Cage Giants

Columbia, S.C. (AP)—University of South Carolina basketball coach Bob Stevens — the Atlantic Coast Conference Coach of the year — has accepted a post as coach at the University of Oklahoma.

South Carolina athletic director Marvin Bass announced Stevens' acceptance Monday.

Stevens succeeds Doyle Parrack who resigned.

"We are certainly sorry to see Bob go, but we wish him the best of luck and a continued success," said Bass.

Stevens overhauled a sagging basketball machinery here in 3 seasons. In the two years prior to the time he came to South Carolina, the Gamecocks had won but 9 games.

Prep Weightmen Get Off To Roaring Start

. . . BELTZER LOOKS LIKE BEST EVER

unprecedented feat by Cornhusker musclemen.

And his 158-11 discus toss stands No. 9 on the all-time chart, leaving hopes that the state will have a 160 foot throw before the year is over. Its been 4 years since any prepster cleared this barrier.

Although Beltzer's leads are relatively comfortable, the rest of the field isn't slouching. Nine prepsters have already cleared 50 feet in the shot and it takes 143-7¼ to make the top ten in the discus event.

Beltzer's teammate, Stan Farrer, is No. 10 in the shot at 49-11½. Deshler's Roy Windhorst is the runnerup at 53-10¼ which is No. 11 on the all-time list.

Beltzer and Windhorst were Gold Medal winners in the shot and discus respectively at last year's state track meet.

Beltzer, who started working hard with the two weight events in January, has been over his best efforts of last year every time out this season.

Windhorst's 147-3 in the discus is 5th on the list. Challenger in this event is another Class C performer, Lynn Hasselbalch of St. Edward, who registered a 155-4½ last week.

State meet records in the two events are 57-4¼ by Larry Fisher of Beatrice in 1957 and 163-2¼ by Howard Debus of Lincoln High in 1940.

Pole vaulters Howard Durst of Gering and Jerry Tetley of Gothenburg also have demonstrated enough early season prowess to become record-holders.

Durst, the defending Class A champion, leads the field with a 12-8½ vault. Tetley is right behind at 12-7. They are

Hunsaker Is Holding His Own

Bluefield, W. Va. (AP)—Heavyweight boxer Tunney Hunsaker, after an early morning battle with rising blood pressure, held his own Monday night in his fight for life.

Dr. E. L. Gage said the fighter, injured Friday night in a bout at Beckley, W. Va., remained in critical condition with about a 50-50 chance for recovery.

"He has shown no perceptible change during the day," Dr. Gage said. Hunsaker still was in an oxygen tent.

Hunsaker has undergone two brain operations since Joe Sheldon of Cleveland battered him to the canvas. His injury is similar to that which took the life of former welterweight champion Benny (Kid) Paret last week.

The second operation was performed Sunday when Hunsaker's temperature and blood pressure soared. Dr. Gage said the incision was made to relieve pressure on the brain caused by swelling.

Dr. Gage said Hunsaker was "still semi-comatose, has not spoken but has swallowed small amounts of water and broth."

Lewiston's mile relay team landed a 3rd place and just enough points to produce a Mudecas Conference Track Championship Monday.

The balanced Lewiston team, coached by ex-Cornhusker cager Willie FitzPatrick, had 29 1/2 points to 28 for runnerup Firth.

The meet, which drew 26 entries and a good rain shower for final two events, was a close one. Twenty-one teams scored with Adams, Walton, and Avoca rounding out the top 5.

Led by speedster Kim TeSelle, Firth had taken the team lead with an 880 relay win in 1:40.0. Lewiston, which managed only two firsts, needed two more points than Firth in the mile relay — the last event — to claim the big trophy.

Adams won the event but

NU Trackmen To Face Colorado, Air Force

. . . AT COLORADO SPRINGS

Bringing home two relays titles and an individual crown from the Texas Relays, Nebraska's trackmen prepare this week for a 3-way meet at Colorado Springs Saturday with Colorado and the Air Force Academy.

The Huskers Ray Knaub won the 100-yard dash in :09.6, the 4-mile relay team established a Texas Relays record in winning this event in 17:01.8. Ray Stevens sent Mike Fleming away in front on the anchor leg which Mike ran in 4:05.7.

The shuttle hurdles team comprising Bill Fasano, LeRoy Keane, Ron Moore, and Fred Wilke tied a 21-year-old record of :58.9.

Mike Fleming could crack the 4-minute barrier for the mile run this spring.

That's the opinion of Nebraska track coach Frank Sevigne after watching his relay teams speed to impressive performances in the Texas Relays. Fleming was clocked in 4:05.7 for his mile on the record-setting 4-mile relay team.

"He's been down to 4:02 or 4:03 while he was in the Marines," Sevigne said.

Fleming was a sophomore at Nebraska back when Keith Gardner was a senior and Joe Mullins was a sophomore. That was in 1958. Fleming then went into the Marines for 3 years. He has two years of eligibility remaining at NU.

Mike will get a shot in the open mile this weekend when the Huskers take part in a triangular meet at Colorado Springs against the Air Force Academy and the University of Colorado.

Sevigne also believes that

Ray Stevens, fine distance man from North Platte, should get under 4:10 in the mile "easily."

Nebraska's shuttle hurdle relay team tied a Texas Relays mark. It was incorrectly reported that Ron Moore ran 5th in the open high hurdles. It was Bill Fasano who turned the trick.

Sevigne was also pleased with the :41.2 clocking of the 440-yard relay team. This is a conference event. "This was extremely good time for the event the first time we have run it," Sevigne added.

"We had one bad pass or we could have won it."

The Huskers will follow their performance in Colorado this weekend with a trip to the Kansas Relays.

Nebraska's entries:

Pole Vault: Juris Jesfers.

Shot: Larry Reiners, Leon Janovy, Roland Johnson.

Huskers Progress On Schedule

...TOOGOOD, CARLSON AND FISCHER DRAW PRAISE

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney and his staff viewed Monday of the Huskers first scrimmage and came up with the conclusion that spring drills are "progressing about on schedule."

Linemen Gary Toogood, Dwain Carlson and Al Fischer drew praise from the Husker head coach for their work in last Saturday's scrimmage. "We saw several mistakes that were made Saturday as we viewed the movies," Devaney said. "But when you consider that the boys are learning new formations, both offensively and defensively, we are progressing about on schedule."

The Husker mentor expressed pleasure over the work of his quarterbacks in the scrimmage, but explained that they may have been helped by the weakness of the defense.

"Our defense is also new and it takes the players some time to become familiar with it," he explained.

Showers Monday failed to halt the Huskers' practice session as Devaney continued to work his squad in two groups with the first reporting at 3:15 and the rest of the squad starting work an hour later.

Monday's session was spent on a review of last week's work and no new plays were introduced. Devaney and his staff also tried to correct many of the mistakes that showed up in Saturday's scrimmage.

Two changes were made in the lineups for Monday's workout with Al Fischer moving over to the team quarterbacked by Dennis Claridge and Lloyd Voss switching to the team with John Falman at quarterback.

No new injuries resulted from Saturday's scrimmage, but halfback Dennis Stuewe is still sidelined with a pulled leg muscle. Sophomore tackle John Strohmeyer was back with the Huskers Monday after being out for the first week with a cut heel.

Devaney plans on some heavy contact work Wednesday.

Sharpe Blames Fielding For Triple Loss To Kansas Nine

Nebraska's baseballers, stunned by 3 losses to Kansas the past weekend, will be trying to bounce back when they meet Oklahoma in a 3-game series at Norman Friday and Saturday.

The Huskers' hopes of a Big Eight title nearly vanished with the setbacks suffered at the hands of the Jay-hawks.

Coach Tony Sharpe put most of the blame for the 3 losses on fielding lapses.

"I wasn't too unhappy with the pitching," Sharpe said. "If we would have given the pitchers good support, we would have come out in good shape."

Sharpe believes the Big 8 Conference race will be a battle between defending champion Oklahoma State and Missouri.

"After those two clubs, the rest of us should battle it out," Sharpe said.

"I have hopes that our kids will bounce back and shoot for a first division finish."

Sharpe said he believed he would make a slight adjustment in his pitching rotation for the Oklahoma series. He'll use Ron Havekost and Ed Johnson in the double-header on Friday and pitch Keith Sieck in the 9-inning game Saturday.

Dave McClatchey will probably get an outfield berth against right-handed pitching, while Pat Salerno may work in against the lefties.

Sharpe isn't considering many other shifts although he may start Ron Douglas at second base.

Against Kansas, Sharpe had to switch regular second baseman Bill Redmond to shortstop and put the injured Rex Swett at second.

Rex Swett and Ron Douglas, with marks of .500, lead the Husker batting averages. Swett has been at bat only 6 times and Douglas has only four trips to the plate.

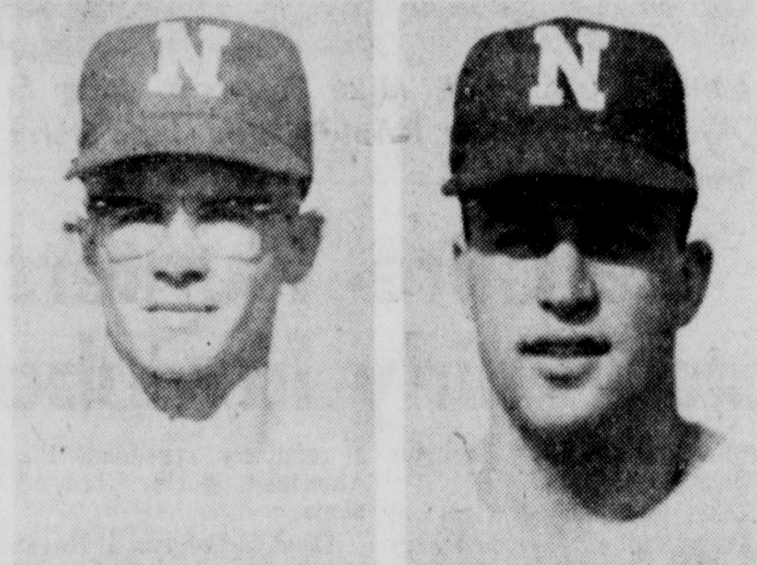

Among the hitters with more than 20 at bats, Steve Smith is the leader with a .391 mark. Dick Becher is hitting at a .350 clip and Don Schindel has a .348 mark.

Ed Johnson's ERA of 2.45 tops the pitchers while Ernie Bonistall ranks second with a 2.61 ERA.

Coach Sharpe's starting lineup against the Sooners will depend on whether Sooner Coach Jack Baer goes with a left-hander or a right-hander on the mound.

Against a left-hander, Sharpe plans to start this lineup: Dale Anderson (.300) 3b; Don Schindel (.348) cf; Steve Smith (.391) lf; Dick Becker (.350) 1b; Don Purcell (.125) c; Tom Ernst (.308) or Pat Salerno (.000) rf; Ron Douglas (.500) ss; Bill Redmond (.167) 2b.

An Oklahoma righthander would face this Husker lineup: Dave McClatchey (.125) cf; Schindel, rf; Smith, lf; Becher, 1b; Purcell, c; Anderson, 3b; Douglas, ss; Redmond, 2b.

Lewiston's mile relay team landed a 3rd place and just enough points to produce a Mudecas Conference Track Championship Monday.

The balanced Lewiston team, coached by ex-Cornhusker cager Willie FitzPatrick, had 29 1/2 points to 28 for runnerup Firth.

The meet, which drew 26 entries and a good rain shower for final two events, was a close one. Twenty-one teams scored with Adams, Walton, and Avoca rounding out the top 5.

Led by speedster Kim TeSelle, Firth had taken the team lead with an 880 relay win in 1:40.0. Lewiston, which managed only two firsts, needed two more points than Firth in the mile relay — the last event — to claim the big trophy.

Adams won the event but

Lewiston pulled in 3rd for 3 points with Firth out of the running.

TeSelle was the meet's outstanding performer, slamming the sprints and anchoring the 880 relay team. He was the only double winner.

The strong Firth senior, defending state Class D champion in the 100-yard dash, won the century in 10.5.

Later he took the 220 by 15 yards in 23.2, one of the state's top times for that distance. He was second in the Class D state 220 last year.

Lewiston got firsts from Jerry Laffin in the discus and Dennis Rinne in the high jump. FitzPatrick's team also scored in the pole vault, mile, broad jump, and high hurdles, however.

Defending champion Waverly finished far down with 6 1/2 points.

NU Trackmen To Face Colorado, Air Force

. . . AT COLORADO SPRINGS

Bringing home two relays titles and an individual crown from the Texas Relays, Nebraska's trackmen prepare this week for a 3-way meet at Colorado Springs Saturday with Colorado and the Air Force Academy.

The Huskers Ray Knaub won the 100-yard dash in :09.6, the 4-mile relay team established a Texas Relays record in winning this event in 17:01.8. Ray Stevens sent Mike Fleming away in front on the anchor leg which Mike ran in 4:05.7.

The shuttle hurdles team comprising Bill Fasano, LeRoy Keane, Ron Moore, and Fred Wilke tied a 21-year-old record of :58.9.

Mike Fleming could crack the 4-minute barrier for the mile run this spring.

That's the opinion of Nebraska track coach Frank Sevigne after watching his relay teams speed to impressive performances in the Texas Relays. Fleming was clocked in 4:05.7 for his mile on the record-setting 4-mile relay team.

"He's been down to 4:02 or 4:03 while he was in the Marines," Sevigne said.

Fleming was a sophomore at Nebraska back when Keith Gardner was a senior and Joe Mullins was a sophomore. That was in 1958. Fleming then went into the Marines for 3 years. He has two years of eligibility remaining at NU.

Mike will get a shot in the open mile this weekend when the Huskers take part in a triangular meet at Colorado Springs against the Air Force Academy and the University of Colorado.

Sevigne also believes that

Ray Stevens, fine distance man from North Platte, should get under 4:10 in the mile "easily."

Nebraska's shuttle hurdle relay team tied a Texas Relays mark. It was incorrectly reported that Ron Moore ran 5th in the open high hurdles. It was Bill Fasano who turned the trick.

Sevigne was also pleased with the :41.2 clocking of the 440-yard relay team. This is a conference event. "This was extremely good time for the event the first time we have run it," Sevigne added.

"We had one bad pass or we could have won it."

The Huskers will follow their performance in Colorado this weekend with a trip to the Kansas Relays.

Nebraska's entries:

Pole Vault: Juris Jespers. Shot: Larry Reimers. Leon Janovy, Roland Johnson. High Jump: Fred Wilke, Wesley Paulsen, Victor Brooks, Jespers. Discus: Reimers, Janovy, Johnson, Gary Robinson. Broad Jump: Brooks, Jespers. Javelin: Ivan Grube, Robinson. Mile: Ray Stevens, John Portie, Mike Fleming, Clarence Scott. High Hurdles: Bill Fasano, Ron Moore, Wilke, LeRoy Keane. Low Hurdles: Fasano, Moore, Wilke, Keane. 440: Tom Saunders, Dick Hoelscher, Gil Gebel. 880: Stevens, Gebel, Bill Kenny, Scott. 2-Mile: Fleming, Stuart Tucker, Mauro Altio. 100: Ray Knaub, Don Degnan, Steve Pfister. 220: Knaub, Degnan, Pfister.

Huskers Progress On Schedule

...TOOGOOD, CARLSON AND FISCHER DRAW PRAISE

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Writer

Nebraska football coach Bob Devaney and his staff viewed movies Monday of the Huskers first scrimmage and came up with the conclusion that spring drills are "progressing about on schedule."

Linemen Gary Toogood, Dwain Carlson and Al Fischer drew praise from the Husker head coach for their work in last Saturday's scrimmage. "We saw several mistakes that were made Saturday as we viewed the movies," Devaney said. "But when you consider that the boys are learning new formations, both offensively and defensively, we are progressing about on schedule."

The Husker mentor expressed pleasure over the work of his quarterbacks in the scrimmage, but explained that they may have been helped by the weakness of the defense.

"Our defense is also new and it takes the players some time to become familiar with it," he explained.

Showers Monday failed to halt the Huskers' practice session as Devaney continued to work his squad in two groups with the first reporting at 3:15 and the rest of the squad starting work an hour later.

Monday's session was spent on a review of last week's work and no new plays were introduced. Devaney and his staff also tried to correct many of the mistakes that showed up in Saturday's scrimmage.

Two changes were made in the lineups for Monday's workout with Al Fischer moving over to the team quarterbacked by Dennis Claridge and Lloyd Voss switching to the team with John Faiman at quarterback.

No new injuries resulted from Saturday's scrimmage, but halfback Dennis Stuewe is still sidelined with a pulled leg muscle. Sophomore tackle John Strohmeyer was back with the Huskers Monday after being out for the first week with a cut heel.

Devaney plans on some heavy contact work Wednesday.

Sharpe Blames Fielding For Triple Loss To Kansas Nine

Nebraska's baseballers, stunned by 3 losses to Kansas the past weekend, will be trying to bounce back when they meet Oklahoma in a 3-game series at Norman Friday and Saturday.

The Huskers' hopes of a Big Eight title nearly vanished with the setbacks suffered at the hands of the Jayhawks.

Coach Tony Sharpe put most of the blame for the 3 losses on fielding lapses.

"I wasn't too unhappy with the pitching," Sharpe said. "If we would have given the pitchers good support, we would have come out in good shape."

Sharpe believes the Big 8 Conference race will be a battle between defending champion Oklahoma State and Missouri.

"After those two clubs, the rest of us should battle it out," Sharpe said.

"I have hopes that our kids will bounce back and shoot for a first division finish."

Sharpe said he believed he would make a slight adjustment in his pitching rotation for the Oklahoma series. He'll use Ron Havekost and Ed Johnson in the double-header on Friday and pitch Keith Sieck in the 9-inning game Saturday.

Dave McClatchey will probably get an outfield berth against right-handed pitching, while Pat Salerno may work in against the lefties.

Sharpe isn't considering many other shifts although he may start Ron Douglas at second base.

Against Kansas, Sharpe had to switch regular second baseman Bill Redmond to shortstop and put the injured Rex Swett at second.

Rex Swett and Ron Douglas, with marks of .500, lead the Husker batting averages. Swett has been at bat only 6 times and Douglas has only four trips to the plate.

Among the hitters with more than 20 at bats, Steve Smith is the leader with a .391 mark. Dick Becher is hitting at a .350 clip and Don Schindel has a .348 mark.

Ed Johnson's ERA of 2.45 tops the pitchers while Ernie Bonistall ranks second with a 2.61 ERA.

Coach Sharpe's starting lineup against the Sooners will depend on whether Sooner Coach Jack Baer goes with a left-hander or a right-hander on the mound.

Against a left-hander, Sharpe plans to start this lineup: Dale Anderson (.300) 3b; Don Schindel (.348) cf; Steve Smith (.391) lf; Dick Becher (.350) 1b; Don Purcell (.125) c; Tom Ernst (.308) or Pat Salerno (.000) rf; Ron Douglas (.500) ss; Bill Redmond (.167) 2b.

An Oklahoma righthander would face this Husker lineup: Dave McClatchey (.125) cf; Schindel, rf; Smith, lf; Becher, 1b; Purcell, c; Anderson, 3b; Douglas, ss; Redmond, 2b.

Glenn Receives Hubbard Medal

Washington (AP)—The Hubbard Medal—the emblem of great explorers of the 20th Century—was presented to John H. Glenn Jr. Monday night "for extraordinary contributions to scientific knowledge of the world and beyond."

The award, given to only 20 other men since it was first struck in 1906, was presented to the astronaut by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson before a crowd of 6,000 in the National Guard Armory.

Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth, said that recent U.S. space efforts could be compared to the first successful airplane flights by the Wright Brothers.

First Unmanned

"They were first unmanned but were followed by manned flight, completely preplanned and of a few seconds duration," he said. "Their experiments were, again, power-limited, but they soon progressed beyond that point."

"Space exploration is now at the same stage of development."

Glenn's citation on the National Geographic Society medal reads:

Extraordinary
"For extraordinary contributions to scientific knowledge of the world and beyond as a pioneer in exploring the ocean of space."

The medal's first recipient was Adm. Robert E. Peary, discoverer of the North Pole. Others included Adm. Richard E. Byrd, Charles A. Lindbergh and Sir Edmund Hillary.

Glenn gave the audience an account of his triple orbit—complete with color slides of sunsets, coastlines, clouds and other phenomena he photographed during the famous Feb. 20 ride through space. The official color movie of the flight was shown for the first time.

Great Explorers

Dr. Melville Bell Grosvenor, president and editor of the National Geographic Society, said he ranked Glenn's achievement "with those of the great explorers who have gone before him . . . Columbus, Magellan . . ."

Johnson said in his presentation speech that Glenn's flight is only the beginning of America's man-in-space program.

American Treasure Hunters Were Treated Fairly In Cuba

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Seven American treasure hunters, shipwrecked near Cuba, came home Monday to tell of high adventure as prisoners and honored guests of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

"We were shipwrecked sailors and our treatment was fair," said a spokesman for the group, Fred Dickson Jr., 33, formerly of Ocean City, N.J. "I would say it was good."

The treasure hunters said they were arrested by Cuban troops as soon as they reached shore in Cuba's easternmost province, but after they convinced the captors they were bona fide mariners in distress the Cubans went all-out to provide for their comfort.

Ran Aground

The men were shipwrecked last Thursday when their 42-foot boat, Pisces, ran aground on rocks about 400 yards from a beach near Baracoa, Dickson said.

"We had endured 3 days of pretty bad weather and very little visibility," Dickson said. "We couldn't use our stoves because of the wind and rolling ship and we subsisted on cold food."

"Because of various factors, we ran aground about 25 minutes from Baracoa." He would not elaborate.

Party Members

The Americans with Dickson were Gordon S. Patton, 62, of Ocean City, Md., leader of the party; Bernie Nistad, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Mike Freeman, 37, Washington, D.C.; John Sterry, 28, Brewster, N.Y.; John E. Johnson, 21, and Joe Campbell, 20, both of Washington, D.C. They flew to Miami aboard a regularly scheduled Pan American World Airways plane.

About 50 Cubans, at Havana airport to see relatives off, recognized them from newspaper pictures and broke into applause.

FBI agents questioned the skin divers when they arrived in Miami. Then the treasure hunters met newsmen.

Think First

Dickson said the group wanted to think things over before saying anything further. He said the party would hold another news conference Tuesday morning at Pompano Beach, about 30 miles north of Miami.

When their boat broke up, and the party swam ashore, Dickson said they had diving equipment and knives which they planned to use to keep off the sharks. Some of the men wore only bathing suits.

Asked how it felt to be landing on Cuban soil, Dickson said: "I had butterflies in my stomach."

Freeman, an underwater photographer, carried a small American flag. He said he saved it when the ship went down.

U.S. Challenges Russia To Restrain Language

...And Inform Its Own People Accurately

Geneva (P)—The United States challenged the Soviet Union Monday to agree that governments should restrain their language on international issues and inform their own people accurately about world problems.

U.S. Delegate Arthur H. Dean also called upon Moscow at the 17-nation disarmament conference to outlaw publications which dwell on the theory that war between the two great blocs, communism and capitalism, is inevitable.

The challenge came during heated discussion of a Soviet proposal that war propaganda be made a formal crime in every country. Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin accused the United States of hiding behind the principle of free expression in order to employ war propaganda. He charged the United States persecutes citizens seeking peace.

Merchant Quits Post In Canada

Washington (P)—The resignation of Livingston T. Merchant as ambassador to Canada was announced Monday by the White House.

Merchant, 58, a veteran diplomat, is retiring for personal reasons, Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, said.

Merchant has been ambassador at Canada since February, 1961. He had been assigned to Ottawa previously from May, 1956, to November, 1958, when he became assistant secretary of state for European affairs.

The Washington Post said Merchant is one of an estimated 100 to 150 Foreign Service officers who are seeking retirement before May 31 in order to take advantage of a provision in the law granting higher retirement benefits. By retiring before the May 31 deadline, top Foreign Service officers would receive about $1,200 more annually in retirement pay.

In accepting Merchant's resignation, President Kennedy said he did so with regret and expressed his appreciation for "your outstanding accomplishments."

Merchant is a native of New York City and has spent 20 years in the Foreign Service.

Market Takes Worst Beating Since Jan. 5

New York (P)—An estimated $3.5 billion was lashed from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange Monday as the market took its worst beating since Jan. 5.

The loss was based on a fall of 2.40 to 253.30 in the Associated Press average of 60 stocks. The averages lost 3.20 on Jan. 5.

Tobacco and steel issues triggered the sell-off.

More news of an anti-cigar campaign in Europe was behind the loss in tobacco stocks, which ranged to more than $5 a share.

A slight dip last week in steel production was enough to drive some steel stocks down by as much as $1 or more.

Of 1,289 issues traded, 219 advanced and 844 declined. New highs for the year totaled 27, new lows 145. Thirteen of the 15 most active stocks declined.

Volume rose to 3.02 million shares from 2.73 million Friday.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 6.67 to 692.96, bringing it close once more to the January low of 690, where support has materialized before.

Rolland Stanford Given 1-Yr. Term

Lancaster District Judge Elmer Scheele sentenced Rolland H. Stanford to one year in the State Penitentiary on a possession of a forged instrument charge.

Stanford, 29, of Phoenix, Ariz., had pleaded guilty to the Feb. 24 offense.

Mattei Sees Refineries

Tense Nerves Block Bowels

New tonic-tablet laxative acts on colonic muscles... de-constipates overnight.

The muscular wall of your colon contains nerves known to medicine as Auerbach's Plexus. In regular people, these nerves tell the colon muscles to propel and expel waste from the body. But tense nerves or emotional upset can block your normal bowel habits. Your colon muscle impulses are no longer strong enough to eliminate waste—which dries and shrinks, further aggravating the condition. Relief, doctors say, lies in the non-irritating, de-constipating principle of a new tonic-tablet called COLONOID. Of all leading laxatives, only COLONOID

Halter Found Near Blue Hill After His Auto Breaks Down

Red Cloud (P)—A state patrolman has arrested a 19-year-old Ainsworth youth charged with arson in the fire that destroyed 4 downtown Ainsworth buildings.

Sheriff Tom Kelley said Yngol Haller Jr. and a companion, Lawrence D. Hapke, 17, of Bassett were taken into custody after their car broke down south of Blue Hill.

5 Educators Win John Hay Fellowships

Five Nebraska educators were announced Monday as winners of John Hay fellowships for summer institute studies in the humanities.

The State Department of Education identified the Nebraska recipients as Mrs. Evelyn V. Bowden, teacher of English and librarian at Bayard; Mrs. Shirley E. Martin, teacher of art at Lincoln High School; Miss Darlene Ritter, teacher of English at Fremont; Mrs. Jeannette N. Shehlin, teacher of English at Scottsbluff; and Mrs. Doris A. Stevens, teacher of English and drama director at Omaha Benson High School.

They are among 170 secondary school teachers and 80 school administrators over the country selected to participate in 4 scheduled institutes. Each participant will receive $500 for the 4-week period, plus $60 for each dependent up to 4, plus travel expenses and tuition.

Institutes will be held from June 30 to July 28 at Bennington (Vt.) College, Colorado College at Colorado Springs, the University of Oregon at Eugene and Williams College in Williamstown, Mass.

Participants will be given an opportunity at the institutes to read and discuss books on philosophy, English literature and history, as well as to attend special lectures in music and art.

Gobblers Freed In Crash Nabbed By Brooklynites

New York (P)—A truck loaded with 400 chickens and 60 turkeys crashed into a girder in Brooklyn Monday. Four cases of the birds fell off the truck and broke open.

The birds made a dash for freedom, but it went a-fowl. "Gobble, gobble," went the turkeys, and a lot of scrambling Brooklynites took them at their word. They grabbed the poultry and headed for the nearest stewing pot.

A headcount by the truck driver showed 10 turkeys and 25 chickens had found new homes.

IN THE RECORD BOOK

City cases were heard by Judge Richard O. Johnson; state cases by Judge John Jacobson.

Springfield, Mo. (P)—A retiring little woman with outwardly simple tastes was sentenced Monday to 3 years in a federal women's reformatory for bank embezzlement.

Mrs. Elsie Houck Stone pleaded guilty last month to 7 counts of misappropriation of bank funds and making false entries in bank books. The prosecution said the shortages at the First National Bank of West Plains, Mo., totaled $318,000.

The 57-year-old woman was vice president of the bank. Her salary was $470 a month. She had been employed 37 years by the bank.

Mrs. Stone told authorities she began taking the money 9 years ago while her husband, Victor Stone, was receiving expensive treatments in hospitals in St. Louis and Springfield.

Sentence Retiring Little Old Woman For Embezzlement

Springfield, Mo. (P)—A retiring little woman with outwardly simple tastes was sentenced Monday to 3 years in a federal women's reformatory for bank embezzlement.

Mrs. Elsie Houck Stone pleaded guilty last month to 7 counts of misappropriation of bank funds and making false entries in bank books. The prosecution said the shortages at the First National Bank of West Plains, Mo., totaled $318,000.

The 57-year-old woman was vice president of the bank. Her salary was $470 a month. She had been employed 37 years by the bank.

Mrs. Stone told authorities she began taking the money 9 years ago while her husband, Victor Stone, was receiving expensive treatments in hospitals in St. Louis and Springfield.

Battle-Ready Leathernecks To Maneuver

Morehead City, N.C. (UPI)—Thousands of battle-ready Leathernecks boarded landing craft and transports Monday in the kickoff of a mammoth maneuver stretching from the North Carolina coast to Puerto Rico.

President Kennedy and his guest, the Shah of Iran, will observe part of the climax of the gigantic troop movement Saturday from aboard a new nuclear carrier the Enterprise.

The operation, dubbed Lantphibex-1962, involves 40,000 Marine and Navy personnel and scores of ships and land and carrier-based aircraft. It is the largest Atlantic Caribbean maneuver ever conducted. The president and his guest will watch the landing at Onslow Beach, N.C.

On Saturday more than 11,000 Marines will storm the beach at North Carolina and then a larger assault will take place at Vieques Island near Puerto Rico. The Navy plans to test its newest supersonic aircraft, anti-submarine techniques and other new weapons.

The Leathernecks who completed boarding Monday, sailed to join a task force of the Atlantic force of the U.S. Atlantic Fleet headed by the Enterprise.

The Enterprise arrived at Hampton Roads, Va., over the past weekend with what the Navy said was the highest score ever marked up on sea trials of a new carrier.

The Marine force moved out of Camp Lejeune, N.C., home of the 2nd Marine Division, by truck convoys and began embarking at Morehead City and from the army terminals at Sunny Point, N.C.

Casals Undertaking To Convey Message Of Peace Through Music

San Francisco (AP) — World-renowned cellist Pablo Casals said Monday he is undertaking to convey his message of peace and freedom for mankind to everyone through music.

"The personal crusade I am about to begin by conducting in San Francisco is an extension of the plea, through music, that I made at United Nations headquarters in 1958 for peace and harmony throughout the world," the 85-year-old artist told a news conference.

"If I have a message of peace, I must give it to everyone."

That is why he is willing to conduct — even in anti-religious Russia or in his native land, Franco-ruled Spain — if it will contribute to world understanding and general disarmament.

Casals went into self-exile from Spain in 1939 because of his opposition to the Franco government. He has not performed in Russia since 1914, also because of distaste for the communist regime and its denial of liberty and religion.

He is willing to conduct even in those countries but will not play his cello there. Russia, he said, has invited him.

"My decision to appear publicly as a conductor where I have chosen previously to maintain silence as a performing artist represents no change in my basic ideals," he said.

"In protest against tyranny and injustice I first quieted my cello in Russia, then in Germany and later in Italy. Finally, to uphold my convictions, I was obliged to exile myself from my own beloved Spain."

"At that time I vowed I would not play in those countries which recognized Franco Spain or in any other country where basic human freedoms were denied. Today I maintain that vow."

"But the conditions of the world have changed greatly since my retirement from public concerts. The people of many countries still live in fear of despotism. But they, along with the people of the free world, face an even greater threat — destruction of all mankind through atomic war.

"Yesterday's conflict among individuals, nations and ideologies has become Today's struggle for survival of the whole human race."

Conceding his contribution to survival might be small, "at least, I will have given all I can give to an ideal I hold sacred."
